Arlington Schools Winning Battle of Pupil Expansion

FOUR NEW ARLINGTON HEIGHTS teachers discussed the prospects of the coming year over coffee during a break in the teachers' workshop Tuesday. The 4, all of whom will teach at the new Miner junior high school, are all fresh out of college. They are, from left, James E. Monroe, Janis M. Olson, Alan N. Swanson and Jeggy A. Bachmann.

AMONG NEW FACILITIES to greet Arlington Heights grade school pupils when classes resume next week is the new Miner St. junior high school, front entrance of which is shown here as workmen put finishing touches on new construction.

An Itasca independent gas station owner has won an injunction stopping a weekly lottery conducted by Martin Oil Service co. He claimed that the Martin company's offer of a new car or $2,000 each week to lottery winners violated the law and the Illinois constitution.

Perhaps the Itasca gas station owner has started something which could affect a whole lot of other lotteries that have become common usage by business and charitable organizations.

Others than the small business firms located in established business zones of the suburbs seek to combat the competition of new shopping centers. The businessmen of Evanston expect to spend thousands of dollars in an advertising campaign to convince the buying public that in spite of Old Orchard and Edens Plaza, Evanston is still the shopping center of the North Shore.

Our hats off to the City of Rolling Meadows, which is the first municipality in this area to give a published account of its finances for the last fiscal year.

Palatine's report will be published next week, to be followed by Arlington Heights the following week. The financial report of the 2 Palatine school systems will also appear in next week's issue. Mt. Prospect village report is being prepared.

In these reports, taxpayers will be able to learn where and how their money was expended by the various taxing bodies.

The latest home building project in Palatine township calls for 450 to 500 homes on the H. L. Moehling farm, Dundee and rte. 53. The project must run the gauntlet of the village of Palatine and the county board.

After the action of the county board in overriding Mt. Prospect objections on School District 26 project, we hope the Palatine plan commission will use its persuasive powers to impress upon the builders the importance of including school facilities in their plans.

The next step would be the cooperation of the 5-county commissioners from the country towns, without whose approval the project would be stymied unless the plans include school aid.

A U. S. authority gave a talk the other day on Youth Fitness in which he said that the United States is on the down hill because it is being too greatly urbanized, meaning that urban-living makes living too soft for the youth of today.

Suburbs are blamed for a a lot of things. Now it is the easy living found therein.

Why not blame the parents for the easy living they are giving their children by supplying them with cars and large allowances?

A group of fathers on West Main street, Mt. Prospect, spend so much time on their gardens and lawns that they had no time for "easy living," a newcomer says. Instead of playing golf Saturday afternoons, he keeps physically fit by joining his neighbors as a member of the community garden and lawn maintenance corps.

He says, whether it is easy living or not, he enjoys it, although it takes a lot of muscle.

"Softness is being accelerated by about everything manufactured and merchandised today," said the U. S. authority.

He blamed part of the downhill of the present generation upon the increasing use of prepared foods that have become so purified that they have been robbed of their nutritional values.

We can expect our present day housewives to say they are too busy to prepare foods as did their mothers and grandmothers.

As husbands demand shorter working hours, why should not their wives demand freedom from kitchen drudgery as long as vitamins can be purchased to supply the energies missing in modern cooking?

As we see it, the housewives are having the "easy living."

Grand Champion Antique...

Vernon R. Hagenbring, 8 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, this week proudly displays his 1911 Knox touring car, grand champion of the Antique Auto and Sports Car meet at the Illinois State Fair.

The car won first place in the Acetylene era class for vehicles originally costing more than $2,300, and then was chosen best car of the meet over the first place winners of 19 other classes. The Acetylene era covers the years 1906 through 1912.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, superintendent of the meet, said Hagenbring had agreed to exhibit his grand champion in the Antique Auto tent for the duration of the 1958 Illinois State Fair.

It also led the parade of antique, classic, special merit and sports cars in front of the grandstand on Auto Race day.

Dunton St. 'Murder' Call Turns Out to Be Only Hoax

A Friday night telephone call reporting a "murder" proved to be a hoax when Arlington Heights police went to 3 S. Dunton, the address given by a woman caller.

When the police radio operator asked the woman to identify herself, she hung up.

Police questioned residents of 2 of the 4 apartments at the address. Both denied making the call and said they had heard no disturbance. Two other flats were locked and their occupants not at home, according to police reports.

THEFTS REPORTED to police during the week included a gas range and refrigerator, stolen Wednesday night from a vacant new home at 710 N. Stratford, and a leather belt, shell box and 2 pairs of shooting glasses Friday night from a car parked overnight at Bill's service station, State rd. and Park.

Mrs. Katherine King, 1176 N. Beverly, and Karen Byski, 6, of 1180 N. Beverly, received bruises when an auto driven by Karen's mother, Mrs. Harriet Byski, hit a power pole at the corner of State rd. and Oakton last Wednesday.

Neighborhood Group Asks Public Dump for Leaves

With its eye cocked on the calendar, a neighborhood group has suggested to Arlington Heights village officials that they help home owners dispose of the annual fall crop of leaves.

"What about a public dumping ground for the disposal and burning of leaves?" asks J. B. Mockenhaupt, president of the Ridge-Park community association.

Noting that police forbid the burning of leaves in streets, the president says that owners have no place to burn leaves and that burning them near homes is a fire hazard anyway.

"WE COULD pile them in the street and let fall rains wash them into our sewers—or do we have enough problems with our sewers now?" he wonders.

Mockenhaupt commented that if the hauling of leaves would hurt the village budget, home owners would probably be glad to do that themselves. If no public property is available, a site might be leased on a nearby farm, he added.

Mockenhaupt urged village residents to "sound off for action" on the matter with village officials.

Don't Let Roomers Ogle Neighborhood Housewives

If you operate a rooming house in Arlington Heights, don't let the roomers ogle the neighborhood housewives.

That apparently is the moral of a story that unrolled in police court Wednesday morning.

NEIGHBOR'S complaints about the ogling by roomers living in a home at 704 N. Salem spurred building commissioner Fred Hammer to have the owner arrested for illegally operating a rooming house.

Wednesday Magistrate William F. Neumann found the owner, Tolleiv Tjelmeland, guilty of violating a village ordinance prohibiting rooming houses and fined him $25 and costs.

Hammer said he had advised Tjelmeland by letter nearly 2 months ago to oust the roomers, said to number 4, but that the order had not been complied with. Neumann repeated the order Wednesday.

TJELMELAND'S attorney, Harvey Adams, said that other rooming houses operate within the village and that only 2 roomers, one said to be non-paying guest, remained in the home Wednesday. Adams said he will appeal the conviction.

Hammer noted that this was the first rooming house case to reach court. However other operators had ceased to rent rooms upon receipt of a letter from him telling them to stop, he added.

Champion Grandpa

Arlington Heights village inspector Charley O'Hagan — who claims the title of champion grandfather in the village —had a glint in his eye last week.

Birth of a 12th addition — weighing 8 pounds, 13 ounces and named Sheila Bridget — to the family of Charley's son, Bob, helped him tack down his claim even more securely. Now there are 7 girls and 5 boys in the Bob O'Hagan brood, which last year moved to Athens, Ga.

School Opening A 'Near Victory'

With the opening of $1 million-plus worth of new classrooms Tuesday, Arlington Heights public elementary schools will score a near-victory in their 10-year see-saw struggle to keep up with mushrooming enrollments

School officials pointed out this week that the number of youngsters who will attend half-day sessions is drastically reduced from last year and is one of the lowest during the postwar period.

Only 4 pupil sections, totaling about 110 students, will be on double sessions this year at Ridge school, while another 80 students at Dryden school will be on a half-day schedule for one-third of the school year.

Third through eighth grades will begin classes Tuesday; kindergarten through second grade will start Wednesday.

In the previous year, there were nearly 400 pupils on split shifts at 3 schools.

Two things are responsible for the change, noted school heads. The chief reason is the ambitious building program of the past year which will add 25 classrooms to the capacity of the system. The second is the lower rate of home building within the village in 1957.

FIRST, OPENING of Miner junior high school with 18 classrooms and Westgate K-5 school with 7 classrooms represents the largest increase in the number of classrooms available over the past year in the history of the district.

One system old-timer remarked with a smile that there were considerably fewer than 25 classrooms within the entire system when he began teaching here.

The schools were built at a total cost of $1,039,000.

ENROLLMENT estimates as of late Tuesday added up to approximately 3,300 pupils, with late registrations expected to swell this to about 3,400, or 400 more than the number who carried books last September. Another 50 or more will come in during the following 9 months.

Early enrollments by school and a comparison with last June school-ending figures are: North school— 720 in June, 540 now; Dryden—410 in June, 376 now; Park—690 in June, 560 now; Ridge—491 in June, 422 now, and South junior high school—802 in June, 680 now. Of the new schools, 530 grade and junior high students are already allocated to Miner school and 190 to Westgate.

THE NEW BUILDINGS are completed except for landscaping and a week's work remaining on the cafeteria at Miner. Students are to carry lunches for a week at the latter.

Home building activity has slackened off markedly in the village this year from the 1956 pace, which in turn was 10 per cent under that of 1955. In the current year the number of home starts will probably be between one-half and two-thirds of the past year.

Predict 2,800 At High School

Enrollment figures for high school district 214 will approach, and possibly pass, the 2800 mark, some 600 more than last year. The size of the freshman class is the biggest reason for the increase although other classes have also added students over the summer.

As of Wednesday morning, 843 freshmen had paid their fees at Prospect high school. Registration continues today, Friday, and Saturday.

At Arlington high practically 1900 students have been enrolled, including 833 sophomores, 619 juniors, and 438 seniors. One post-graduate is among the enrollment figures.

An average of 5 students per day has been enrolling during the second week of registration. There will also be those who will not pay fees until the first day of school, September 3.

HIGH SCHOOL authorities urged parents of students who have not yet paid fees to do so either Friday or Saturday.

Prospect high administrators pointed out that it was especially important for freshmen to start the year with a clean slate by taking care of the enrollment procedure this week.

Sewer Authority Shuns Arlington

Arlington Heights was still off limits for the Metropolitan Sanitary district of Greater Chicago this week.

The district will not assume jurisdiction over sewage treatment within the village until the issue of compensaton for the village sewage treatment plant is settled.

The plant will be abandoned once the district takes over and the village still owes $610,00 on the plant, enlarged in 1952.)

Lawrence J. Fenlon, head of the district's legal arm, Tuesday said no talks have been held with the village for "about 2 months." In June the district offered to pay the village $350,000 compensation.

The village is holding out for a higher amount and village engineers are thought to be preparing a report on operating costs of the local plant to back up its claim.

"AS FAR AS I know, the district's offer still holds good," declared Fenlon. "The delay isn't holding up our plans to extend a sewer to Arlington Heights so we are not too concerned."

Fenlon pointed out that as of January 1 Arlington Heights residents were taxed by the district and hence are paying both the village and the district for sewage treatment.

Street Lights Program Losing Official Favor?

Official enthusiasm for the downtown street lighting program proposed for Arlington Heights showed signs of lessening last week.

At a Thursday hearing one member of the board of local improvements said he favors "reducing the cost of the project to a point consistent with decent lighting.

"It may be," continued board member Edmund J. O'Brien. 629 W. Campbell, "that we could have well-lighted streets with less lighting than the engineers recommend.

"MAYBE IT'S NOT necessary to have all streets lighted as brightly as are Campbell and Dunton," added O'Brien. "By limiting the scope of the program, perhaps by buying cheaper and fewer poles, we can save money.

As O'Brien closed with a statement that "we should make up our own minds and not rely solely on our engineers," the audience broke into applause.

After this declaration several other members voiced misgivings about the proposal. The board discussed holding an executive (non - public) session with a member of the engineering firm of Consoer, Townsend and associates, which designed the proposed system.

No date was set for the executive session.

A VOTE ON THE project was to have been taken Thursday but was postponed when opponents protested that the board hadn't lived up to an agreement it had made with them.

P. K. Ladas and William E. Trude, spokesmen for the opponents in the summer-long wrangle, said they received a list of property owners affected under the latest program revision only early last week, too late for them to start another petition campaign, and that revised cost estimates had not been included, Attorney Hugo Thal, counsel for the improvement body, said he would mail the estimates out immediately.

The revision referred to trimmed the program by nearly one-third and was announced at the July hearing. The estimated cost is now $215,559, compared with $307,173 at the outset. Deleted were the extreme ends of Northwest hwy., the north side of Davis st. and State rd., from South to Sigwalt sts.

Because of the objections, the hearing was adjourned until September 12.

AS IN PREVIOUS hearings, Trude, hammered away at the entire program. He said the apponents "could find no compelling demand" for lights, noting that he had attended "3 or 4 of these meetings and I've yet to hear somebody be in favor of them."

Trude said his group of property owners, many of whom attended the hearing, "feel their officials aren't representing them . . . they are representing 'the little man who isn't here."

Prepare Ordinance for New Village Tax on Utilities

Arlington Heights village attorney Stephen Jurco Tuesday was instructed to draft an ordinance providing for a village tax on utilities.

If the measure is enacted into law, the village would collect 5 per cent of the gross total of all telepsone, gas and electricity bills paid by village consumers.

CHICAGO HAS collected the tax for several years, since the state legislature in the 1955 session gave municipalities the power to tax.

Trustee John F. Hoover said the village "is being cheated" unless it adopts a tax because village consumers are paying the same electrical rates as Chicago consumers, and would continue to do so if a requested rate increase is approved.

WORKING ON the theory that the utility passes on the municipal tax to residential and commercial customers, board members said that Arlington Heights is now paying part of the tax money being collected by Chicago.

This is so, said trustees, because the Commonwealth Edison company, serving the entire metropolitan Chicago area, treats the 5 per cent paid to Chicago as a part of its "overall operating costs."

No estimate was available on the amount of revenue the tax would yield.

IN OTHER business, trustees:

Heard that Mrs. Rudolph W. Lippke, 412 W. Campbell, intends to sue the village for compensation unless the village's insurance company makes a satisfactory settlement. Her attorney, Frank M. Opeka, said Mrs. Lippke tripped and fell in a slight depression on W. Campbell st. as she was getting out of her car on March 4. Opeka added that village crews filled the hole immediately after the accident, in which Mrs. Lippke broke an ankle.

Made no move to engage a firm to survey the needs of the village sewer system because a representative of a Chicago engineering firm failed to show up at the meeting.

Learned that a laboratory report confirmed the presence of Dutch elm disease in a tree on private property at 801 S. Beverly. The tree was cut and burned several weks ago by a nurseryman. It was the second confirmed case to be discovered this sumer.

Mayor Urges Pupils Stay In School

Nearly 40 per cent of high school students drop out before graduation. Most of those who drop out would profit by staying in school.

"Only geniuses should be allowed to quit school," declared Mayor Edward G. Carlisle of Arlington Heights. "Everyone who falls below the category of genius needs all the formal education he can get. In today's fast moving technological society, the person without a high school education is going to find himself standing still, while the rest of the world whirls by."

Mayor Carlisle this week issued a "Stay in School" proclamation to encourage school-age youngsters to leave summer jobs and return to school in order to qualify for more responsible jobs in the future.

Train Whistles Bothering You? Then Petition ICC

(CNS) — If train whistles, horns or locomotive bells bother you, petition the Illinois Commerce Commission for relief.

This avenue is provided in an ICC general order excusing railroads from sounding warning toots at all grade crossings protected by automatic flashing lights.

The warning, however, is required at every other grade crossing until further word from the ICC.

The action followed pleas from several suburbs for relief from North Western railroad's policy of whistling for all crossings to comply with a new state law. The statute allows the ICC to make exceptions.

THE ICC experience and records show that wig-wag signals even though automatically controlled do not provide suitable protection to justify excusing railroads from sounding the warning at such crossings. Neither do manually operated crossing protection facilities nor crossing watchmen, the order said.

Special orders excusing the sounding of a locomotive warning at any particular crossing will be entered only after a public hearing; the ICC said. (B8

English Channel Swimmers Spend $1500 To Save $10

This is the season of the year when success is most likely. All contestants are invited to grab their bathing suits and to bring, in addition, about one-half million French francs.

One thousand, five hundred dollars is the rough cost,

Would you like to swim the English channel?

service compris, of making an official channel crossing.

Weaklings, however, can take the steamer for $10.

This $1500 takes care of 1 or 2 rowboats, their crews, inspectors, departure and arrival timers, etc. For this price a contestant has heavy guarantees that he will not drown. Most important is finding a man who knows the Channel currents to acompany the swimmer.

BECAUSE of this huge expense, channel swimmers fall into 2 groups: those who take on the task for their personal satisfaction, and those who do it for financial gain.

The larger part is by far those who are backed by big companies.

The poor but able swimmer, therefore, is advised to address his case to a backer like a razor-blade company, a shoe-polish firm or a necktie manufacturer.

A fast swimmer can, after jumping into the water in France, be in England about 12 hours later.

Cold is certainly one of the contestant's greatest enemies. More people give up because of it than for any other single reason except money. Sometimes because conditions are not right, swimmers have to wait a week or more before attempting the assault.

ONCE HAVING COVERED most of the distance, however, currents off of the English coast sometimes make it impossible for the swimmer to land. Many contestants have reached to within 200 or 300 yards of the Dover coast, only to have to retire from the trial.

A few people have already swum the English channel, then turned right around and swam back the other way without stopping off for tea.

Swimmers encounter a distance of about 22 miles, but sometimes up to 26 or 27, depending upon their fortune with the currents.

Find Northern Wilderness Is Fisherman's Paradise

by EDWARD H. WILSON

Two days out of Chicago, the Al-Can Trailer Trek crossed the Canadian border at Fort Francis, Ont., for the long haul through our northern neighbors' country to Anchorage, Alaska.

Border officials were friendly and helpful, getting us through customs in about 30 minutes.

We parked our travel trailers and were flown 75 miles to secluded Beak Lake lodge deep in the Canadian forest. Skilled bush pilots flew us there in Norseman seaplanes.

The lodge owner and 2 Indians were guides. They knew the fishing holes and within 2 hours 6 of us netted 30 walleyed pike, a 7-pound Northern and a 3-pound bass. The guides then took us back to the lodge where we had a delicious fish fry.

BACK IN FORT FRANCIS we took off for Kenora and more fishing. The chamber of commerce met us at a forest park and prepared another fish fry and we bedded down for the first night in the wilderness in our comfortable trailers.

Off the next morning we began a 2-day drive through the prairies of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. This is some of the most beautiful country I have ever seen. Miles and miles of golden ripe wheat lined the highway, broken only by an occasional farm house.

From Kenora to Regina we travelled on the Trans-Canada highway. With relatively little traffic on the road we had no difficulty keeping up to the 60 mph speed limit right into the capitol city of Saskatchewan.

Mayor Tom Coburn of Regina and other city officials were our hosts at dinner and the next day we toured the barracks of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. This is the training school for "mounties." One of them donned the traditional scarlet uniform to provide color for our photographers.

AT THE PRESENT time we are in this beautiful national park. There are cottages, motels and a huge area for travel trailers in clean, well-supervised areas. On the way in, 2 of us spotted a huge moose at a watering hole. A herd of buffalo and hundreds of ducks and wildfowl greeted us as we came down the long tree-lined road into the park settlement.

The days have been sunny and warm, with temperature around 70; the nights are chilly with temperature down around 40 degrees. Everybody sleeps soundly during the night and will agree they feel as healthy as they ever have before.

Most of our food is being cooked in our trailers on the propane stoves. We are all eating well, gaining weight and having a wonderful time.

The next article will be from Swift River Lodge in the Yukon. (B7

Aerial Survey Finds Dodgers

(CNS) — An aerial survey to find tax dodging property owners has added 3,543 buildings to the rolls in 9 townships since the program started about 2 years ago, says County Assessor Frank Keenan.

Local governments stand to collect an estimated $1,078,991 in back taxes for 1956 and 1957, Keenan says.

Work is proceeding to compare the aerial photographs with records. An investigator is sent to the scene when a building not on record shows up on a picture.

THEODORE HEINTZ, project supervisor, said Thursday that 838 buildings have ben added to tax rolls in Worth township and 232 others will be re-appraised, which means additional $327,924 is collectable.

In Evanston township, 72 buildings were added and 138 will be re-appraised, with 6 buildings ready for assessment in 1958. An estimated $11,582 is collectable in back taxes.

Rich township will gain an estimated $57,986 from the 217 buildings added. Niles township will collect $128,434 from 272 buildings added.

In Orland township, 282 buildings were added and 27 will be re-appraised, with an estimated $40,248 collectable. Berwyn township will gain $106,322 from 71 buildings added to its rolls.

In Proviso township, 243 buildings were found compared to 220 in Hanover township. Financial figures for these 2 were immediately compiled.

THE AERIAL staff is now working to complete surveys of Northfield, Bloom, Wheeling, and Elk Grove townships.

The staff to date has added $14,971,168 in property valuation to the 1956 and 1957 tax rolls. The money thus far collected for these years totals $610,361. The estimated amount collectable for 1956 and 1957 is $1,078,991. (B8

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

1958 International KC Show

Nineteen judges from 11 states, Canada and Hawaii will make the awards at the 18th International Dog show in Chicago March 29 and 30, 1958, at the International amphitheatre.

International entry of 2547 dogs this year was a new peak for this all-breed event; and in number of dogs benched, the 1957 Chicago show ranks first in the country among all other shows from January 1 to date.

Best in Show at the forthcoming International will be judged by Alva Rosenberg of New York City. The 6 group judges will be Harry T. Peters, Jr., Orange, Va., sporting; William W. Brainard Jr., Far Hills, N.J., hounds; Col. E. D. McQuown, Xenia, Ohio, working; Mrs. Major Godsel, Woodlnad Hill, Calif., terriers; Major Godsel, toys; and Maxwell Riddle, Ravenna, Ohio, non-sporting.

Arthur K. Y. Zane of Honolulu, will judge the German Shepherd specialty of the German Shepherd Dog Club of the Great Lakes at the International — —always one of the year's largest entries of this breed.

Obedience judging of the 1958 show will be shared between Mrs. William B. Long Jr. of Lincoln, Mass., and Loy F. Green of Berea, Ohio.

Touring With Towser

A recent request for information about taking a dog along on vacations has prompted your editor to again repeat where information can be obtained relative to various motels that will accept guests with dogs.

Fortunately, they are all listed in a booklet called "Touring with Towser" put out by the Gaines Dog Research center, 250 Park ave., New York 17, N.Y. a copy may be obtained by sending to the Center 25 cents (the old price used to be 10 cents, however the booklet is now much larger and more complete) to cover costs of mailing and handling.

In addition to the listings, the booklet contains handy tips on what to take along for Fido, special regulations in the various states and national parks, requirements for entering Canada and Mexico and other pertinent and helpful information.

Obedience at Lombard

The obedience trial held at Lombard Sunday by the German Shepherd Club of America with the German Shepherd Club of Chicago as the host club was a rather noteworthy event.

Your editor judged 2 of the classes, of which one was the tracking test in which 10 dogs competed. Of the 10, only one passed; however, it did so with flying colors.

Tracking work seems to be catching on more and more and the interest shown by handlers in this work has lead to an increase in entries for this specialized type of training.

By and large there are few dogs in the country that have the coveted "T" or tracking degree as awarded by the American Kennel club. Needless to say, it entails many hours of training and a lot of hard work and walking on the part of the dog's owner.

Barks and Bays

One of the "Cowboy and Indian" classics on TV recently had a problem regarding who had stolen whose horse. Believe me, it was tame compared to an event recorded centuries ago. It seems that the theft of a pure-bred hound dog was the cause of a fifth century Scottish battle in which 160 people were slain. (SP

'Chain Letter' Bond Sales Repudiated

The U. S. Treasury is cautioning the public against the current rash of Savings Bonds "chain letter" schemes.

"U. S. Savings Bonds themselves are an absolutely safe investment, free from elements of risk because the principal and interest are fully guaranteed by our Government," T. Merle Paul, State Savings Bonds Director said today. "However, these schemes for acquiring Savings Bonds 'for nothing' are a risky gamble."

HE SAID THAT "the post office Department's experience with endless chain schemes over a period of many years is that most participants lose their entire investment. This outcome is inevitable because the number of interested persons is soon exhausted. The greater the amount to be invested, the sooner the saturation point is reached.

"Some organizers of the new 'chain letter' plans imply that the Government and banks approve of the idea in order to increase Bond sales," Paul continued. "This is not true. The Treasury Department, through the Federal Reserve Bank, has instructed banks and other issuing agencies to reject applications for the purchase of Savings Bonds where the applicant states, or where the issuing agent has reason to believe, that the Bonds will be used in the chain letter scheme."

He reported the Treasury's stand was taken more than two years ago when the chain-letter device involving Savings Bonds was first brought to its attention. The scheme, then as now, was felt to be contrary to the Government's purpose in selling Savings Bonds to the public.

"Savings Bonds are issued primarily for the purpose of enabling individuals and families to save safely and regularly for portant long-range goals," Paul said. "The Treasury wants to sell as many bonds as possible—but always within the framework of thrift, and not as a vehicle for this or any other 'get-rich-quick' scheme." (B10

Holiday Card To Feature 3 25-Lap Tests

A big holiday weekend of action-packed stock car auto racing is on tap Saturday, Sunday and Monday (Labor day) nights at O'Hare Stadium where this sort of racing has been drawing the biggest crowds in Chicagoland this season. Gates open nightly at 6 p.m. with the first race at 8:30.

Each night's activity will also include the exciting amateur races that have become so popular at O'Hare, which is conveniently located on Mannheim rd., just south of Irving Park. In addition to all this, Sunday's show will also include a ladies' race and, for the first time, backup and demolition events.

THE HIGHLIGHT each of the 3 evenings, of course, will be the 25-lap feature test for the 1956 and '57 passenger cars which have already drawn over 100,000 fans to O'Hare this year. Entrants include Tom Cox of Villa Park, Bob Schultz of Elmwood Park, Elmhurst's Fred Lorenzen and Dan Moorehead.

Also, Kenny Paulsen of Stone Park, Arnie Gardner of Geneva, Al Warfield of Forest Park, Bill Shoulders of Waukegan, Roy Martinelli of Half Day, Red Swanberg of Meadowdale, Hank Chapman of Aurora and many more. (Sp

Park District Plans New Program Aimed at Adults

Starting in November, Arlington Heights adults will be able to stay slim and trim without resource to reducing pills or stationary bicycles.

The village park board last week approved park sponsorship of a program of physical activities and authorized expenditure of $2,000 to get the program rolling.

BADMINTON, basketball and volleyball will be offered for adults in the fall and golf instruction will be given in late winter. The auditorium of the Recreation park fieldhouse is now being converted into a gymnasium to house the activities.

Its floor has been refinished at a cost of $700 and basketball backstops and heavy wire window screening ordered.

Park supervisor Tom Thornton said that while the program is aimed mainly at adults and young adults, the park district will also add a class in tumbling and gymnastics for grade and high school students this year.

DETAILS ARE now being worked out on adult arts and crafts classes which wil be given at Pioneer park. As tentatively scheduled, a class in fine arts and another in three-dimensional arts, including ceramics, will meet one night a week.

A schedule of activities will be announced later, as definite starting dates cannot be set until equqipment arrives, probably in late September or October.

A small fee may be charged for participation in some of the classes but costs will be at a minimum, added Thornton.

"The member of the park board have felt a demand for more year-round programs for some time," commented Thornton. "Up to now we haven't had facilities for them. The fieldhouse has been used almost every night for meetings and you can't have a basketball game going on in one room and a political rally in another."

MOST organizations will tranfer their meetings to the community building at Pioneer park this fall, with the spacious rooms there virtually booked solid for the next 9 months.

Recreation director Dick Ault said the physical education and arts and crafts programs will be tried out on an experimental basis.

"We don't know what Arlington Heights will go for in the way of recreation," he said. "Now "Now that we have the facilities, we're going to keep trying until we find out."

A story on the park district's midget football league appears in this week's sport section.

ONE BLOCK IN ARLINGTON HEIGHTS (or most of the block at least) got sidewalks this week as workmen poured the first concrete Tuesday morning on the east side of the 600 block on S. Mitchell. Property owners voluntarily installed the walks. Village trustees have urged other residents of a 2-block area around South and Park schools to install walks but no others have done so. The village is now planning to lay walks and bill other owners.

Parking Lot Fund Is Running Dry

A quarter-million dollars doesn't go far when you're building off-street parking lots, Arlington Heights village oficials have learned.

With only a small portion of the State road lot improved, the village has exhausted all but about $9,600 of the $243,731 in the off-street parking account.

Most of the money, $234,293 exactly, was the proceeds of a 1956 bond issue; the biggest share of the remainder, $9,025.67, was contributed by merchants.

MERCHANTS still have 2 years in which to pay an additional $11,000 pledged to the program.

About four-fifths of the disbursements were for purchases of property, a recent report by the village manager indicates. Acquisition of property for Dunton-Vial sts. lot cost $86,862; the State rd. property cost $108,713 for a total of $195,576.

OF THE remainder, about $1,100 went to improve a portion of the State rd. lot and $37,000 for legal and inspection fees, assumption of special assessments, meter purchases, razing of 4 homes and paving of the Dunton-Vail lot.

With only $9,600 left, minus a final unreceived legal bill not received yet, trustees will have to pay for improvement of the railroad parking lots, completed last week, and the rest of the State rd. from excess meter collections or other sources of income.

2 Parochial Schools Ready to Open, Third Is Delayed

Two of Arlington Heights 3 parochial schools will start on schedule next week but at a third pupils will have at least an extra week in which to taste the last joys of summer.

St. Peter Lutheran school will begin the 1957-58 year with a worship at 9 a.m. Tuesday to which parents of students are invited. Grades 1 through 8 will attend classes that day, with kindergarten to begin the following day. Kindergarten sessions will be from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. for a second class.

ST. JAMES Catholic school, with 1 more classroom full of youngsters this fall than last, will commence Wednesday. Twenty-four nuns and lay teachers will welcome an anticiated enrollment of 1,120, about 100 more than started a year ago.

Many pupils formerly enrolled at St. James will be transferred to another school only a few yards away. The new Catholic parish in Prospect Heights will open a school for grades 1 through 4 in the basement of St. James church. Upper grades will continue to go to St. James.

THE REV. HAROLD O'Hara, pastor of Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic church, said the parish school will open a week late in order to allow workmen to complete conversion of a former church into 7 classrooms.

He said the school will probably open September 9 and that parents will be notified if a later date is decided upon. The 7 additional rooms will boost enrollment from about 800 to 1,100, with 60 students to occupy each room.

The priest said that 112 new first graders from Rolling Meadows will enroll. (AF

The Al Snaps are 3 now. Stephen Jeffrey was born August 24 in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, and weighed 6 pounds 14 ounces. The mother and baby are doing fine and the father thinks Stephen is the best thing that ever happened to them.

The Harry Kunbergers are back from a 3-week vacation in Philadelphia, where they visited his family. While they were there, Harry's brother and his family came home from the Azores to help make the family reunion complete. Among the places of interest they saw were Valley Forge, Independence Hall and the Old Bookbinders. Among the best treats for Lynn were the sea food dinners.

Teaching This Fall

Norma Barnes will be going to St. James school this fall with her 2 girls, Cathy and Susan. She will teach seventh grade there.

June Kane is another Ridge Parker who will be teaching this fall. She will be over at Westgate school teaching first grade.

Tracey Lu, 3-month-old daughter of the Lyle Huntleys, was christened in the First Methodist church here Sunday. Her brothers and sisters were there for the occasion.

Visiting in Wisconsin

Donna Balfour, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Balfour, is visiting her aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Balfour in Janesville, Wis. She went up there with her grandmother and will stay until her parents come for her before school starts.

Mrs. John R. Miller and her boys have just returned from a trip to Virginia with her mother, Mrs. R. C. Swink. Among the interesting places they saw was Jamestown and its festival, celebrating the 350th year as a colony. The original fort was reproduced as well as the first 3 ships used by the colonists to come to this country. The tour lasted 4 hours, in which was packed as much American history as some students learn in months. They also visited Williamsburg, Va. and Gettysburg. In Virginia they stopped in Richmond to see the William Trittons who moved from here recently. Mrs. Miller was especially happy to see them and the new house they had built.

Jimmy Beresheim, son of the George C. Beresheims, spent several days in Wheaton last week with his cousin, Lon Bencini. They had fun going to Brookfield zoo and swimming in the Wheaton pool.

Vacation in New Jersey

The H. A. Braunsreuters are back from 2 weeks in New Jersey. Their first stop was Linden, N. J., where they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin McDonough. From there they went to Green Island, where they enjoyed staying at her aunt's cottage. When they visited his mother, Mrs. Bertha Braunsreuter, in Neptune, they went to a barbecue for the whole family. They had a wedding anniversary while they were there and to celebrate they went to the Rainbow room in the RCA building in New York City for cocktails; they went to Toots Shors for dinner; and afterwarde to the Tavern on the Green in Central park for dancing under the stars. Her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Malcom Jack, and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Franzetta from Pittsburgh joined them for the evening. On the way home, they stopped in Pittsburgh to spend the night at the Franzetta home and went dancing at the Starlight Room of the Pittsburgh airport.

The Nat Burfiends trip took them to New England for 2 weeks. Their first stop was at Niagara Falls to visit her brother and his family before going into the New England states. They included much sightseeing during their trip, including Washington, D. C., Williamsburg, Va., and the Jamestown festival.

Tommy Ladenthin, son of the Bernard Ladenthins, has gone to Houghton, Mich., with his grandmother, Mrs. Irene Ladenthin, to visit friends of hers.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leu and their children had an eastern vacation too. They were gone 10 days visiting her brother and his family, Lt. and Mrs. R. D. Egeland in East Greenwich, R. I. He is stationed at Quonset Point naval air base and was able to take them for a tour of the base and the aircraft carrier Leyte. They also went through the Breakers, Cornelius Vanderbilt's home at Newport, R. I., which is open to the public. They were joined there by her other brother and his family from St. Louis, Mo.

Out-of-Town Guests

The G. S. Morgans are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Schneider and their son, Tex, from Ontario, Cal. Their youngest son, Art, is back after having visited his sister and brother-in-law in Denver. Wakefield is being kept busy these days with the marines as a reserve officer. He is adjutant of the squadron at the Columbus naval air station, Columbus, Ohio.

Charlie Stocking is visiting his grandparents in Baraboo, Wis. this week, getting in one last vacation before school starts. (A

Remind Parents of Age Limit on Teen Drivers

Arlington Heights police chief, Carl H. Skoog, has informed parents of teenagers who request permission to drive the family car, that an applicant for an operator's license must be at least 16 years of age.

If an eligible applicant is not currently licensed as an operator or a chauffeur in this state he must qualify by examination.

The secretary of state may issue an operator's license to a child of 15 years of age if the child would otherwise be unable to attend school or if parent or guardian is unable to obtain a license to operate a motor vehicle or needs the services of the child in business, said the chief.

SUCH LICENSE should be restricted as to the time, place and other conditions under which the child should be granted the privileges of driving a motor vehicle.

An operator's license is required to operate a scooter, motor bicycle or miniature auto on any street or highway. (A

Park Ridge Firm To Begin Work On Local Church

The building committee of Our Saviour Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, announced to the congregation last Sunday that the firm of Stade, Dolan and Anderson had been chosen as architects for the church.

The work on the $200,000 project is expected to begin early in 1958. The congregation owns a 2-acre tract on the southwest corner of Olive and State rd. upon which the contemporary-style first unit of the total plant will be built.

The Stade, Dolan and Anderson architectural firm has been located in Park Ridge during the past 10 years. Their most recent commissions in the northwest suburban area are St. Andrew Lutheran Church, Park Ridge, and Immanuel Lutheran Church, Des Plaines. The St. Andrew building received a citation of merit for excellence in architecture in 1956. (A

School News

To acquaint the new kindergarten students with their room and teacher, Mrs. Bernadine Carlsen, the kindergarten room at Wilson school will be open from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 31. It is suggested that a parent and his child try to visit school within these hours so that the child's first day at school will be smoother, and make it unnecessary for parents to be present the day school starts, Tuesday, Sept. 3, at 9 a.m. A bus will pick up kindergarten children after 8:30 a.m. each school morning. The exact schedule will be worked out.

The first Wilson school PTA meeting will be held September 10, at 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose room. Pat Coniglio, president, will preside over the business meeting after which the teaching staff will be introduced. Differing from the procedure last year, each teacher will then extend an invitation to the parents to visit their child's classroom. This will enable the parent to get a clear understanding of his child's study program for the coming year. Elaine Petrucci, program chairman, announced that refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Western Style Party

Neighbors of Florence and Harry Hinden, 1221 Chicago, donned their jeans and calico skirts to attend a western style party Friday evening. The Hindens decorated their patio with swinging doors and murals to represent an old-time western bar. Their 54 guests enjoyed a barbecue supper at midnight.

Judy and Walter Zare, 1251 Illinois, are parents of a daughter, Kathryn Lee. The baby was born August 13 in Lake Forest hospital and weighed 8 pounds 2 ounces. She has a sister, Debra, and a brother, David.

Guest of honor at a surprise baby shower Friday evening was Dorris Gabel, 1252 Yale. Fifteen friends and relatives were invited to the home of Billie Blomberg in Mt. Prospect. Co-hostess was Dorris' sister-in-law, Jo Gabel, also of Mt. Prospect.

Moving to Wisconsin

Moving to Hales Heights, Wis., are Clarice and Martin Cavanaugh and their 3 children, 1224 Chicago. The Cavanaughs expect to leave for their new home, which is in a suburb of Milwaukee, the first week in September. Mr. Cavanaugh has been transferred with the H. J. Weber Co.

Tommy Lussier, 1216 Chicago, celebrated his third birthday August 15. He invited the following playmates to a party: Roxanne Kuhl, Pat Henneman, Gary Hinden, Dave and Peggy Hollister, Dan and Jean Crouch, John and Tom Noerenberg, Mary Ann Crouch, John and Michael Hoover, Kathy Narup and Tommy's brothers, Bobbie and Jimmie.

Former Residents Visit

Former residents, Muriel and Jack Manfrin and 3 children, who now live in Milwaukee, visited Gwen and Bob Horter, 1322 Race, this weekend.

Christine Dowell, 1243 Race, will return Saturday from a 2-week stay at the YWCA Camp Hastings, which is located near Lake Villa. (A

There is no scientific basis for superstitions regarding planting under the signs of the zodiac.

TV

by Ed Landwehr

Many times at LANDWEHR'S TV people have asked us: "Just what is television anyway; what makes it work; why does it break down; give us a non-technical answer that we can understand?"

So here goes . . . The TV picture begins in a camera; thirty pictures per second, about seven-eighths inches high and one and a quarter inches wide. But, instead of film, these pictures are recorded in an electron tube which changes the picture to an electrical pulse, then to a TV wave. The sending station sprays the wave to your antenna and your TV set changes it back to an electrical pulse and flashes it onto your screen as a picture again. All this in an instant, showing the action before the camera.

Now, if your screen does not give you a clear-cut, easy-viewing picture, you can be sure in about 95% of the times that somewhere between the tip of your antenna and the inside of your picture tube, that electrical pulse has gone astray. It must pass through a multitude of electronic devices which makes-up your TV set. Phone CL 5-0700 and we will put that straying pulse back on the path toward a good picture.

Hello World

Congratulations go to Marty and Karen Frischmann, 842 N. Hickory, on the birth of a son, Keith Alan, who weighed 7 pounds 8½ ounces and was born Thursday, August 22, in Resurrection hospital. The Frischmanns also have a daughter, Desire, who is almost 3.

Anniversary

Best wishes are extended to Ken and Pat Kuenstler, 951 N. House Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cadegan of Boston, Mass., are visiting here with their relatives, the Jack Burkes, 936 N. Haddow.

The children in the 800 block of N. Hickory are giving a show Thursday, Sept. 5 at 7:30 p.m., in the Henry garage at 834 N. Hickory. Home Again

The Ray Nitch family, 813 N. Hickory just returned from visiting Ray's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nitch in Coleman, Wis. They reported that the weather was fine. While there they became well acquainted with a baby fawn, much to the delight of the children.

Local Ministers Attend Meeting

The Rev. Hayes F. Fletcher and Dr. Hughes B. Morris, pastors of First Methodist church, Arlington Heights, moved from pulpit to pew at the annual College of Christian Life Aug. 26-30. Held on the University of Illinois campus here, the college is a period of classroom work, study and inspiration. It is a part of the extension department of the University of Illinois and the Department of In-Service Training of Methodism's Board of Education. Approximately 300 Methodist ministers from Illinois attend the school each year.

FOLLOWING THE examples of their parishioners, the pastors moved into the rear pews to hear the "preacher to preachers," the Rev. Merrill R. Abbey, minister of First Methodist church, Ann Arbor, Mich. He is also teaching the course in preaching. Dr. Carl Michalson, professor of Systematic Theology, at Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J. is teaching the theology course. Professor of church administration is Dr. Weldon F. Crossland, minister of Asbury-First Methodist Church, Rochester, N. Y.

Bishop Charles W. Brashares, administrative and spiritual leader of Illinois Methodists is in charge of the morning devotions. The Rev. C. B. Wagner, pastor of First Methodist church, Pekin, is dean of the college. (ACM

WORD STUDY

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Fractious; apt to break out into a passion; cross; unruly. (Pronounce frack-shuss). "Some racehorses are quite fractious immediately before a race."

Deign; to think worthy or in keeping with one's dignity; to condescend. (Pronounce as though spelled "dane"). "The social snob finally deigned to speak to the doorman."

Verecund; bashful. (Pronounce vehr-ee-kund, accent first syilable). "His verecund manner kept him in obscurity throughout his stay there."

Apropos, appropriate. (Pronounce app-roh-poh, principal accent on last syllable). 'Your remark is apropos of the present situation."

Incoherently; in an inconsistent or unconnected manner. (Procreated a dazzling series of conounce in-koh-heer-ent-li, accent on third syllable). "The man spoke incoherently as he poured out his story."

Coruscation; a glittering or gleaming in flashes; a sudden flash or play of light or of intellectual brilliancy. (Pronounce kohr-uss-kay-shun, accent third syllable). "The spotlight directed on the sequins of her dress created a dazzling eries of coruscations." (B10

Adult Instruction Begins Thursday At Our Saviour

A series of classes for persons interested in acquainting themselves with the teachings and practices of the Lutheran church will be conducted by Rev. John P. Petersen, pastor of Our Savjour Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, beginning next week.

All class sessions will be held in the church office, 944 N. Kaspar, the following Thursday evenings at 8. September 5, the subject for discussion will be "How Does God Communicate with Man?", September 12, "What Is Man Like?"; September 19, "What is God Like?"; September 19, "What is God Like?"; September 26, "Why is Christ so Important?"; October 3, "The Church and the Sacraments;" and October 10, an evening of orientation for new members in the church will be held. Sunday, Oct. 13, will be a reception of new members during the morning worship.

Persons interested in attending the classes are requested to call Pastor Peterson at CL 5-1012. While the primary purpose of these classes is to acquaint non-Lutherans with the Lutheran church and to prepare un-baptized and un-confirmed persons for church membership, they will also be of interest to present members of the Lutheran church.

One of the church auxiliary organizations which is to resume its activities after a summer recess is the senior choir, which will meet for the first rehearsal of the fall season next Thursday evening at 8. The rehearsal is to be held in the multi-purpose room of Dryden school, Dryden and Rockwell sts., and all present choir members as well as new members are urged to be present. (A

Elsie and Ed Johnson and children, Eddie, Kathy and Jim, had 3 relaxing days at Brown County State park, Nashville, Ind. The mountains there are known as the "Little Smokies" and attract artists from all over the country.

A family barbecue for 13 children and 9 adults was held at the home of Phyllis and Jim Fitzpatrick, 501 Yale, to celebrate the visit of Phyll's brother, Philip Van Der Heyden, on leave for 30 days from an air force base in California.

Round 'n About Westgate

Saturday, Sept. 14 the association will sponsor a family picnic in Westgate park. From 3 to 6 there will be a bike parade with awards for the best decorated vehicles, plus games and races for all age groups. Hot dogs, cold drinks, ice cream and other refreshments will be sold. At 8 the festivities for adults with games, races and community singing will start. Street dancing will follow. This will be a night "out-of-the-kitchen" for mother and there will be no baby sitter problem as the park is within walking distance of all homes. Members and non-members welcome. This will be the last chance to pay the annual dues before the Christmas dance and party for association members' children. Anyone willing to volunteer his services for this affair should call Ralph Hawkes at Cl. 3-5756.

Association board members enjoyed a picnic on the Downing patio at 407 Yale Saturday evening. A ham roasted on the spit to complement the fresh corn and tomatoes from the Vork garden. An evening of fun and dancing was enjoyed by Marvette and Gene Ballou, Violet and Ray Downing, Jay and John Vork, Jackie and George Rudolphy, Jane and Don Rice, Norah and Dick McFarland and Jane and Ed Quigley.

A cottage on the lake at Port Huron, Mich., meant 4 weeks of pleasure for Millie Scott and youngsters, Jim, Bill and Susie, 511 Yale. Husband Jim joined them for 2 weeks and the weekends.

Boating, swimming and fishing at Eagle River, Wis. pased a happy 10 days for Marlene and Roy Jernberg and daughters, Carol and Donna, while baby brother stayed with his grandma.

Helen and Bill Jensen, 1401 Euclid, spent the weekend in Mt. Pulaski, Ill., where they were 2 of more than 100 relatives attending the annual reunion of the Downing family. This gathering of the clan has been in progress for more than 35 years.

A patio party at the Baranowski home, 329 Yale, turned out to be a surprise wedding anniversary celebration for Elinor and Howard Huff, who were presented with a gift for their new recreation room bar. Old bridal finery was used for a hilarious mock wedding ceremony. On hand to enjoy the refreshments, games and dancing were Elaine and Bob Maley, Eleanor and Bud DeZonna, Elaine and Dick Hoppe, Jackie and George Rudolphy, Louise and Charles Kuharich, Bari and Pat O'Dea, Fran and Harry Hebard, Bert and Andy Graczyk, Elinor and Howard Huff and Estelle and Chuck Baranowski.

House guest for several days at the home of Arlene and Marv Verbeck was Arlene's brother, Lauren Pike of Davenport, Iowa.

Hostesses at a baby shower for Giny Blocki last Thursday night were Jay Vork and Lois Graham. Refreshments were served and individual gifts presented by Mrs. Gale Blocki, Lois Martin, Ellie Walker, Phyllis Fitzpatrick, Lorry Cahill, Marge Santeli, Lois Graham and Jay Vork.

A family dinner with cake and trimmings, plus friends dropping in for the evening meant another happy birthday for Clarence Wrobel, 1404 Fremont.

Spending several days at the Miller home, 505 Yale, was Jo Ann's younger sister, Pattie Wright. Later Fred and Jo escorted her home to Alton, Ill., where they visited with other members of the family.

Culminating a season of bridge playing, a local group enjoyed dinner and the theatre at Shady Lane Playhouse. Present were Jackie Rudolphy, Jean Barry, Mery Di Giulio, Jeanne Chalifoux, Marlyn Hochstetler, Helen Romme and Jean Mongrain.

Recent guests at the home of Marvette and Gene Ballou, 1418 St. James, were Marvette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Grove of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Kuhn and infant son, Douglas, of Madison, Wis.

Spending several weeks with Jane and Don Rice, 403 Reuter, is Don't brother, Richard Rice of Erlanger, Ky.

Ginny and Jim Blocki, 419 Yale, were hosts Saturday night to 2 couples and fellow Kraft employees at a barbecue shishkabob. Along with Carol and Jack Wallner, they enjoyed colored slides of much traveled guests, Dr. Gunther Klaus.

Two couples sharing the same wedding anniversary celebrated with cocktails and dinner at Trader Vic's in the Palmer house and later danced to the calypso band in the Blue Angel. They are Louise and Ken Smith, 1515 Euclid, and Dolores and Phil Bracht, 1337 N. Wilke rd.

Accidents and Sick List

Home again and not seriously injured after involvement in an auto accident in Berwyn is John Czerney, 1605 Fremont.

Recently released after 17 days in Resurrection hospital and working part time is Larry Smith, 1611 Johanna tr. His friends hope this will be the end of hospital visits.

A patient in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, is young Timmy Comeford, a victim of polio, who is soon to undergo a spinal operation. Cards and good wishes would cheer him.

New Neighbors

Occupying their new home at 1319 W. Sigwalt is the Rev. Paul Erickson, wife, Josephine, and children, Peter, 3, and Mary Jo, one year. The family moved here from southwest Chicago, where Mr. Erickson was pastor of the Ridge Evangelical Lutheran church. He has since been called as secretary for parish education of Illinois Synod. KICKIN' IT AROUND

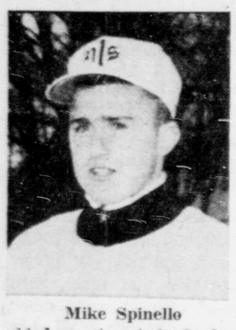
by BOB FRISK

MIKE SPINELLO, former Arlington high school golf star, hit the jackpot last week at Columbus Park. A personable 19-year-old who lives at 424 Wa-Pella in Mount Prospect, Spinello became the first medalist in the history of the Cook County amateur golf tournament to go on and capture the meet crown.

Spinello used an empressive 8 and 7 victory over Carl Ahrens of the Kankakee Valley golf club to win the annual tournament. Ahrens, former varsity pitcher at Illinois, is now a law student at the University of Texas.



Mike Spinello

And to add to his laurels for the week, Mike also tied the course record when he fired a 29, 5 under par on the back 9, on the way to a round of 64 in the quarterfinals. The 29 tied a record set last year by another West Suburban Conference grad, Dean Refram of Medinah who prepped at Glenbard.

The new champion used 4 birdies to build up a 5-hole lead after 18 holes in Saturday's 36-hole title match. He went 6 up on the 157-yard 20th and then added another hole lead on the 443-yard 23rd. Mike birdied the 340-yard 24th and then went 9 up as Ahrens 3-putted the 200-yard 26th. Ahrens won the 27th and 28th holes, but Spinello clinched the match when he dropped in a deuce on the 197-yard 29th.

Spinello, who attends Northern Illinois State University at De Kalb, was a member of Arlington's state championship golf team in 1956 and was crowned WSC medalist for 3 years. He was first flight champion of the Cook County amateur in 1956 and annexed the Des Plaines Jaycee title the same year. Recently, he placed second in the 30th annual Midwest Amateur Public Links tournament in Lincoln Park.

In this spring's Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference golf championships Spinello was crowned medalist with rounds of 37-35-36-38. In 10 regular season matches at Northern he posted a medal average of 74.8.

THE WEST SUBURBAN CONFERENCE'S top candidate for All-State honors in football this fall appears to be Vic Pagel, fleet back at Maine Township high school. At least that's the way it looks after reading several pre-season press releases on the relative strength of the league units.

In almost every instance coaches list Pagel as the boy to watch this year in the WSC. And they have good reason. A 5-11, 175-pounder who is also a potential Major Leaguer in baseball, Vic lead the loop in scoring as a junior with 9 touchdowns and 1 extra point as Maine tied Hinsdale for the division crown with a 6-1 mark. This season the Blue Demons have several boys back and also the additional strength of some personnel from a sophomore team that tied for the league crown. Mr. Pagel should have the help up front!

Vic Pagel

Pagel is just another name in a long list of outstanding backs produced in the WSC. Since 1951, when Arlington entered the loop, such performers as Don Vena (Hinsdale), Bruce Gallup (Maine), Clem Ryan (Maine), Frank Stanicek (Hinsdale), Bobby McKown (La Grange), Dick Winterbauer (Arlington), Bill Caffey (La Grange), Jack Rhind (R-B), and John Sujack (Arlington) have grabbed the headlines for the fall campaigns.

Few conferences can boast of a more impressive array of backfield talent!

WHAT IS THE FUTURE of semi-pro baseball in Arlington Heights? We wish we could give a definite statement right now, but we can only speculate as to what is ahead for a local team.

This summer Arlington Heights has been operating with 2 summer teams on a semi-pro level, the Redwings and Black's Boosters. Both clubs have had creditable campaigns with the Redwings capturing fourth place in the state semi-pro tournament.

Bud Blumenthal, who manages the Redwings and is president of the Greater Chicago semi-pro baseball loop, is moving to Texas and consequently the operation of 2 teams in Arlington again next summer appears unlikely. But one team, a combination of the 2 local clubs, is a strong possibility right now.

The top personnel from both the Redwings and Boosters, plus the addition of a few men to fill important gaps, would form the Arlington team for '58. The unit rated "No. 1" would play the important league games on Sundays with the "reserves" seeing action during the week in twilight and arc-light affairs. In this way every boy on the roster would see action each week and fans would be treated to several games during a summer campaign.

This is all speculation right now, but we feel the combination of the 2 teams will become a reality. If it does, Arlington can be expected to have one of the best semi-pro clubs in the state of Illinois!

GAIL BACH, who lettered in 4 sports at Arlington high school, signed a contract with the Chicago Cubs to provide the Arlington Herald sports page with its major sports item on August 29, 1947. Bach was slated to report to the Janesville, Wis. training camp for the '48 season.

Wally Grace, then baseball coach at Arlington, had recommended that the Cubs look at Bach and after a 1-month trial at a camp in Peru, Ill., Gail inked a contract. Bach, who now resides at 873 Maple in Palatine, had batted .562 during his senior year in leading Grace's Cardinals to the Northeast Conference title.

Arlington's Redwings stayed in the running for the league title with a 3-1 win over the Cicero Reds at Recreation Park. George Schaefer hurled a neat 3-hitter, and Art Shiewe banged out 3 hits to pace the locals. Elmer Kirchhoff was cited for brilliant defensive play. Next tourney game for the Redwings was against Portage Park.

Of final interest was the announcement that George Busse of Mount Prospect, a sophomore at Oklahoma A & M and former Athlete of the Year at Arlington, was an outstanding fullback prospect for the Oklahoma school, and that the North beat the South, 53-51, in the annual prep cage game in Champaign. Ken McBride of Centralia was game's high scorer with 16 points, followed by Elgin's Don Sunderlage and Lane Tech's Bato Govaderica with 14 each.

WELL, IT'S TIME to put the cover on our typewriter for another summer and turn this column back to its originator, Bob Paddock. We've enjoyed bringing to readers some of the sports news on both a local and national level, but now we have another responsibility which started Wednesday of this week—covering football at Champaign high school for the Champaign-Urbana Courier. And then on September 16, of course, starts that final year at the University of Illinois!

We hope we have been able to do "almost as good a job" as Bob Paddock does each week with this column. This was a new experience and one which makes us respect even more the work of such men as Dave Condon, Herb Lyon, and Red Smith who labor daily with a column.

We also hope Arlington, Palatine, Fenton, and Lake Park have good years in athletics so that come June, 1958, they can look back and say that the '57-'58 school year was the "best ever."

As far as Illinois' approaching athletic season, we look for outstanding records in baseball, wrestling, track and gymnastics. The baseball, wrestling, and gymnastics teams could win NCAA titles, and we expect at least 3 men from Coach Lee Eilbracht's diamond crew to sign Major League contracts by next summer—shortstop Bobby Klaus, catcher Wayne Lanter, and pitcher Frank Schwartz.

Basketball and football teams should have average campaigns—at least Harry Combes and Ray Eliot hope they do! It'd be nice for once in our 4 years at Illinois to head for Pasadena and the Rose Bowl but that seems unlikely again this year. Eliot has a good nucleus to work with but so does every other coach in the Big Ten. The only thing that looks definite about the football team is that it better "produce or else!" Pressure from Southern Illinois alumni groups hit a dangerous level last year, and Eliot, dean of the conference coaches, may be forced to resign if the Illini don't produce a "creditable" unit. He just can't keep going on 1 upset every fall!

Well, so much for predictions and a farewell. See you next summer.

Football Practice in Opening Week

12 Lettermen Head Arlington Grid Candidates

Football drills ar Arlington are in full swing this week with 2 sessions daily on the field west of the high school.

Workouts have been running from 8:30 a.m.to 10 a.m. and from 4-6 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 31, the staff will hold its first practice under the lights with a session slated for 7:30 p.m.

ASSISTING Ormsbee with the varsity are Bob Scott, Ted Wissen, and Maurice Ross. Bill Beckman and Bob Hoese head the sophs with Charles Aldrich, Hal Henson, and Rusty Dowell working with the plebes.

The presence of 2 experienced quarterbacks in Grey and Thill gives Ormsbee a situation rarely found in prep ranks. Thill was listed as No. 1 at the start of drills last fall, but Grey, a transfer, had to fill in due to an injury. Both boys turned in creditable performances at the termination of the campaign.

Jack Weber, an end turned fullback last fall, is another starter back from the '56 unit. Weber, a powerful runner and good punter, should have an outstanding season if he survives the injury jinx. Losses from the backfield that started a majority of the contests last fall include All-Conference halfback Ashley Haase and Ron Shoemake.

OTHER KEY performers lost in the June graduation are All-Conference end Dan Vittum, end and tackle Dean Skadberg, guard Ed Meinken, guard Carl Klehm, and Tackle Jim Hoffman.

THURSDAY, AUG. 29, 1957

Midget Football Hopefuls To Meet at Recreation Park

Midget football league sponsored by the Arlington Heights park district wil have its first turnout at Recreation park September 7, league director Dick Ault said this week.

A lightweight league will accommodate boys weighing less than 105 pounds and boys over that weight will play in a heavyweight league.

The village will be divided into 4 quarters, with a team in each league from each quarter of town if enough boys and coaches show up. Dunton st. and Northwest hwy. are the dividing streets.

Boys in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades are eligible.

AULT SAID the park district will furnish jerseys and urged boys to buy other football equipment. He also suggested parents make sure boys are in good physical condition before registration.

"There hasn't been a single injury in the 5 years the program has been going and we hope to continue this record," he said.

Registration cards are to be obtained at Pioneer or Recreation park before the September 7 practice.

Men are needed to coach the teams and will receive $100 for coaching at 2 afternoon and Saturday morning sessions weekly during the 2-month season. (Sp

2 Big Innings Crush Black's

by RANDY THOMAS

The Streator Reds, winner of 15 games prior to last Sunday, parlayed 5 first inning hits and sloppy fielding to score 6 runs and coast to an easy 14-1 victory over Black's Boosters Sunday in Streator, Ill.

While the Boosters were absorbing their 16th defeat, and much embarrasment, the Reds were having a field day in posting their 16th success in 25 starts. However, the jovial hosts may be in for a severe shock this Sunday when they entertain the Oak Park Sox, 2-1 victims of the Redwings and Dick Bokelmann last week.

SATURDAY, the Boosters return home to resume their somewhat curtailed August schedule with 5th army. Black's will be seeking settlement for an 8-3 pasting handed them by the boys in brown on July 31. The suspended tilt of August 14, which was called because of darkness with the army leading 2-1 after 5, will be completed preceding the original encounter. Labor Day will find the Boosters traveling to Aurora to meet the Aurora Tigers, weather permitting. This will mark the third time this month the 2 teams have tried to get together, both previous attempts have been halted by rain.

The once busy baseball club of Arlington, which participated in as many as 7 contests a week and no less than 4 during June and July, has suddenly seen their robust activity sliced to a mere game a week. This recent inactivity might be a legitimate reason for the plight they traveled over 240 miles to find Sunday.

BLACK'S committed 3 first inning bobbles and to add to the early woe, a certain so-called athlete had trouble keeping his feet in taking chase of an easy fly out to provide 4 unearned runs and a 6-0 lead. In addition the Boosters' offensive show, which only 8 days before had produced 23 runs and 15 safeties, appears to be on a strict diet of no more than 1 tally and 5 hits per game. For in the past 2 matches their total production has been limited to 2 runs and 8 hits.

After each of the initial 6 Streator batsmen got on and scored by "hook or crook," starter and loser Bob Hamilton, now 2-4, retired 12 in a row and looked untouchable until short-stop and leadoff hitter Dick Gayon ignited the second 6 run scoring spree in the fifth with his second double. He began Streator's first assault with a line shot down the right field line in the first.

THE NIGHTMARE finally concluded 6 runs and 10 men later when the same Gayon socked the longest ball of the day toward the deepest part of centerfield, only to have Ron Ashley make a sensational one-handed grab with his back to the infield as the ball apparently was on its way over the fence at the 365 foot mark.

The locals opened the seventh with 3 consecutive hits by Leo Behrens, Bob Dotts and Larry Fischer to score their lone run of the afternoon. This might have developed into a prosperous frame, but after Fischer successfully committed his fifth theft of the year, Ashley and Ted Bakalar popped up and Bob Miller, who had taken over for Hamilton with 2 out in the 6th, grounded out to end the threat. Winner Dick Masley, who personally accounted for 3 runs in the big fifth with a double, set down the side in order in the 8th and 9th to end the game.

Redwings Win, 2-1

Arlington's Redwings, behind the effective hurling of Dick Bokelmann, edged the Oak Park Sox, 2-1, Sunday at Recreation Park.

The locals will play a doubleheader this Sunday against Kolski's with first game slated to start at 12:30 p.m. (Sp

Cross Country Hopefuls Urged To Report

All cross country candidates at Arlington and Prospect schools are requested to report as soon as possible to Coaches Russ Attis and Bob Meissner. The coaches hope for about 60 candidates when the season opens.

Alan Hutchinson, Ron Taggart, and Ken Courter were the first 3 lettermen to report this week. Boys should report every morning at 10 to the locker room!

Arlington opens its 1957 season on Tuesday, Sept. 17, at Glenbrook. This year there is a comparable schedule for both varsity and frosh-soph teams although the frosh-sophs will run in conference competition only.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

FOOTBALL PRACTICE has only just started this week but we have an idea in a general way about prospects in the new Tri-County League of which Palatine, Fenton, Lake Park and Glenbrook of the Paddock Publications area make up 2/3 of the membership. Of course each of the teams plays 3 non-league games before the regular conference competition begins and after those games a much better line on the caliber of the teams can be given.

To us, North Chicago appears to be the potential champ. We are not sure how much they have left from last season's good team. We do know that they had terrific frosh-soph and freshman outfits which swept aside all opposition. Also remember that many of the good negro athletes at the frosh and soph levels are older than the general run of players and ready for tough varsity competition at the soph and junior grades. North Chicago will be the leader or close contender in all sports this season in the new conference. This is a pretty safe generalization.

Fenton High has a flock of returning lettermen. Fenton has been in the cellar or close to it for several years but hopes are high for an upsurge in the new setup. Personally we think the new league will be tougher on the average but feel sure Fenton will make a better showing. Palatine has potential for the first division and could be a contender if the guards and tackles come through, particularly on defense. Veteran quarterback and ends give the Pirates the foundation for a passing attack, their weakest point in past seasons. Last year Palatine finished second. It will hustle them to beat out North Chicago or Glenbrook for a similar finish this year though possible.

Glenbrook will not be as strong as in the past few years. Their boys coming up from the lower classes have experienced much less gridiron success than usual. Whether Coach Sherman can field another champ and increase his string of league triumphs is very doubtful. Meeting North Chicago in the opener will be a tough break for both teams.

We know little of Elmwood Park but that they did not show too well in their first year as a 4-year high school. But what school ever does well in football when they first start the sport? Elmwood Park will be the second largest school in the new conference and will be much improved with most of their team experienced.

Lake Park was only a 3-year high last year but could beat most of the schools around the area if they had played only sophs and juniors against them. We expect the school at Medinah to make a very good showing. Every lettermen will be back and the 12-6 showing they made at Palatine last fall early in the season against the Palatine JV team (which included a majority of their regulars) indicates that Lake Park will be no pushover.

Palatine never has had as fine a home schedule for football as this year. With Grayslake, a top Northwest Conference team, in the opener; Barrington, powerful North Suburban leader; Glenbrook with a string of 3 straight Northwest titles and 24 league victories in a row; Lake Park on October 26 at homecoming; and Fenton, long-standing rival, to close the season; Pirate fans have a real gridiron menu awaiting them.

GOLFING HAS ITS UPS AND DOWNS for the professional as well as the weekend golfer. Take Bob Toski who won the Tam world title in 1954 and consider that he won only about $3,000 this past season. Ed Furgol, a former champ, has won only $500 in prize money this season. Julius Boros has not won a major tourney in 2 years but was world champ in 1955. Lew Worsham, Ted Kroll and Bob Toski have not won a championship since they gained the world title.

In contrast Dow Finsterwald has been in the money in 59 consecutive tournaments but still has a long way to go to equal the 113 in a row chalked up by Byron Nelson.

A comment in the United States Golf Association Journal by Henry Longhurst, a British writer who covered the U. S. Open, seems to us worth quoting for it points out a weakness in golf as a spectator sport which is becoming more pronounced as time goes on and likewise a weakness which can cause the game to become less interesting for the player:

"I believe that if they do not find means of speeding it up they will reduce the spectators to those who from time to time turn on the television to see if they have finished another hole.

"The trouble is that a generation of ordinary players who, when all's said and done, "make" the game of golf, is growing up in the belief that this is how the game is normally played. They copy the mannerisms of the masters and, with them, the pace.

"A creeping paralysis comes over golf, too. We talk and write a lot about it, but nobody does anything. We invent 2-stroke penalties for delay but nobody has the nerve to impose them.

If you do not think there is truth in the above statments, just try playing a daily fee golf course on a Sunday and spend half the day sitting to wait for the slow poke golfers.

"TOP ANGLER," with a 46-inch 32-pound muskie is Mrs. S. Greschner of Arlington Heights, who with her husband, Sylvester, recently completed a 925-mile trip of the great north woods. Mrs. Greschner caught the huge fish at Lake Alma. Other highlights of their trip included visits with former navy friends in Marshfield and Woodruff, Wis., and with the couple's former neighbor, George Orth in Eagle River. An Indian pow wow put on by the Chippewa tribe and conducted by Chief Big Wind, was also enjoyed by the Greschners.

Sophs to Play Key Roles On Illini Football Team

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS Coach Ray Eliot and his football captain-elect, senior half back Dale Smith, are looking forword to the 1957 season. First home game for Illini is Oct. 5 against Colgate. Other games in Memorial Stadium are: Oct. 19—Minnesota (Homecoming); Nov. 2, Purdue (Dad's Day); Nov. 9, Michigan ("I" Men's Day); Nov. 23, Northwestern.

by BOB FRISK

The youngsters will take over on the 1957 University of Illinois football team.

And the performances of these sophomores may hold the key to the fortune of Coach Ray Eliot's Illini.

Eliot's main problem as he awaits the start of another football campaign is the development of a linebacker who can handle the center's duties on offense. But he also faces the prospect of using inexperienced performers at several positions, a situation which isn't too healthy for a Big Ten unit.

SEVENTY varsity candidates have been invited to report for the opening of fall practice on Sept. 2, including 20 lettermen, 21 other members of last year's squad, and 29 sophomores. Two practice sessions a day — at 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. — will be on the agenda for an undetermined period, probably until beginning of University classes, Sept. 16.

Last fall's freshmen football team had some outstanding prospects, particularly in the line. Boys expected to push the veterans for starting roles include Joe Wendryhoski, West Frankfort, a center; Jim Wadlington, Evanston, another center; Russ Martin, Carbondale, quarterback; Harold Hussung, Sterling, halfback; Rich Kreitling, Fenger (Chicago), end; Lindell Lovellette, Eldorado, guard; and George Rantis, Oak Park, halfback.

ONE POSITION where Eliot is a lot better off this fall than he was in '56 is the quarterback slot. Three lettermen are back in Bill Offenbecher, Tom Haller, and Chuck Schrader in addition to two promising newcomers, Martin and Bob Hickey of Chicago (Lindblom).

Offenbecher will probably get the nod at the start of the season, but he'll have to put on an impressive display all fall to maintain his No. 1 ranking. Martin is a slick operator who is conceded a good chance at gaining the starting berth.

Add to University of Illinois

Starting halfbacks will probably be Capt. Dale Smith and Bobby Mitchell with Danny Wile, Don Grothe, L. T. Bonner, Hussung, and Rantis the other top candidates. If Mitchell regains his sophomore form, the Illini will be in good shape.

JACK DELVEAUX and Ray Nitschke give Illinois a pair of the finest fullbacks in the country. Nitschke had an outstanding spring while Delveaux was working with the baseball team. Both boys are powerful linebackers.

At the flanks Rod Hanson of Thornton (Harvey) and Kreitling, the outstanding sophomore, will probably get the starting call. Hanson has earned 2 varsity letters and should have his best season in '57. Kreitling was a big surprise in the spring drills and ranked as the top pass catcher on the squad. Bob Delaney and Ron Hill are capable reserves.

Ron Nietupski, who played with Delveaux and Kreitling on the Fenger high school squad of 1955, will team with Paul Adams of Waukegan or Carl Johnson of Lockport at the tackle positions with Morton's George Utz another likely starter. Art Krumrei, the fourth Illini who played on that '55 Fenger of Chicago powerhouse, and Bruce Dollahan are also in contention.

THREE LETTERMEN are back at guard in Bob Allen, Dick Nordmeyer, and Dick Perez but they'll be pushed by a host of outstanding sophs, namely Bill Burrell of Chebanse, Lin Lovellette of Eldorado, Ken Kraml of Hinsdale, and Ernie McMillion of DuSable.

Bob Henderson of Cambridge, Ohio, and Ken Sutter of Peoria Woodruff are the veteran centers but Wendryhoski of W. Frankfort and Wadlington of Evanston are capable of pushing the veterans from the starting role.

Overall, the Illini should have the potential to give any team a good contest. This is going to be one of the most unpredictable outfits to come out of Champaign-Urbana in many years!

56 Candidates to Report For NU Football Practice

Fifty-five candidates, including all spring practice participants, have been invited by Coach Ara Parseghian to report Sept. 1 for the opening of football practice at Northwestern University. The group includes 14 lettermen, 31 sophomores and 11 reserves.

Coach Parseghian, who catapulted the Wildcats into sixth place in the Big Ten in his first season last year, emphasized in his letter of invitation the importance of reporting in top physical condition for the rigorous 9-game schedule that opens against Stanford at Palo Alto, Sept. 28.

"We face one of the most difficult schedules in the nation this fall," Parseghian said, "and we must be ready to play 60 minutes of rugged football in all nine games.

"THE SCHEDULE that includes both of last year's Rose Bowl finalists, Iowa and Oregon State, poses a great challenge. Condition will play an important role in our success as it did last year when we showed what can be accomplished by aggressive, spirited play."

Manpower shortage and inexperience loom as the major problems confronting the Wildcats in their second season under Parseghian. Graduation took 10 lettermen including regulars Dale Pienta and Jack Ellis, quarterbacks; Ted Ringer, center; John bauer, guard.

Returning regulars are Bob McKeiver and Willmer Fowler, halfbacks; Eddie Quinn, fullback; Ben Napolski and Cliff Peart, ends; Andy Cvercko, tackle, and Al Viola, guard.

PLAYERS INVITED back, by position, are:

Quarterback Chip Holcomb, Evanston; John Talley, Delaware, Ohio; Bert Fredrick, Sycamore; Dave Chris, Akron, Ohio.

Halfbacks — Bob McKewer, Evanston; Willmer Fowler, Mansfield, O.; Ron Burton, Springfield, O.; Fred Conti, Sharon, Pa.; George Gondek, Michigan City; Al Faunce, Marion, Ind.; Gene Ascani, Canton, O.; Mark Johnston, Sycamore; Sam Johnson, Rochester, Pa.; Robert Cole, Columbus, Oh.

Busse Motors Drops Match in Golf League

Busse Motor Sales, which 4 weeks ago were the odds-on favorites to take first place in the Tuesday divisio. of the Mt. Prospect Twilight golf league, appeared to be wilting under the constant pressure as they lost another one-sided decision 8-2 to Mt. Prospect Bowling Lanes. The defeat reduced their lead over second-running Licht's Paint Store to a mere 5½ points with only 1 night of league play to go.

Fortunately for the league leaders, Licht's fumbled their golden opportunity to narrow the margin still more when they lost their match with cellar-dwelling Wille Lumber & Fuel by a duplicate 8-2 score.

WHILE 2 TOP teams were faltering, the closest challengers to the top spots seemed to strengthen. Third place Mt. Prospect Jewelers took 8 points from Moler's Barber Shop, fourth place Hank's Pure Oil clobbered Mt. Prospect Elec. Construction, 9-1, and fifth place Fadaro's Redwood Restaurant knocked off Keefer's Pharmacy, 7½-2½. The victories left the winners within chipping distance of first place and a short putt out of second.

With the top 5 teams bunched closer than flies on a boarding house tablecloth and the last night of play coming up, the Tuesday division was shaping to the most exciting finish in recent league history. For the outcome be sure to read next week's story carried exclusively in this paper.

Barrett Wins Wayside Title By Single Point

Barrett Insurance of the Our Lady of the Wayside league at Chevy Chase won the championship honors August 14 as they managed to hold off a strong finish by Arlington Milk to gain a one point margin. Jack Boland was the hero for Barrett as they faced the second place Era Tool team on the final and position round night. He personally gained 3 points as his teammates were held to 2 ties and a loss. The final score of 4 to 2 dropped Era into 3rd place.

Capt. Tom McGrath fired a blistering 41-17-24 net to bury Bob Pagliai as he tried to inspire his teammates in an all out effort to take the championship. His team fell just one point short although their 5½-½ point victory over 4th place Kindler's Ice Cream Shop indicated they were of championship caliber.

Sunday afternoon, August 25, the league turned out for its first annual tournament. In following the pattern that prevailed throughout the season, almost all of the members showed up on the first tee to battle for individual al honors. The weather was perfect and in spite of the usual Sunday congestion, everyone managed to turn in his -8-hole scores although some were noted to be slowing down considerably on the back nine. (We're strictly nine hole golfers.)

EMMETT WALSH Jake Marino tied for low net with 67's with Emmett winning the toss of the coin for the trophy. Bud Martindell took the rest of the honors with the longest drive, nearest to the pin and low gross. Bernie Kelly and guest Pete Galdoni split the blind bogie.

Everyone wants to thank the sponsors for backing us in our first year of play. Dick Black of Black's Memorial Home, Paul Kindler of Kindler's Ice Cream Shop, Tom Barrett of Barrett, Pickel and Kreuz Insurance, (apologies to Pickel and Kreuz for not using their names in the linotype), Bob Lonze and Howie Jack of Era Tool, Steve Murphy of Continental Can, Bob Peterson and Dick Michlaki of Arlington Milk, Lou Stefanik of Stefanik's Food Store and Greg Moody of the Greg Mooday Company are the men to receive the thanks.

Father O'Hara gave out the individual awards and the team trophies while the present officers, Chairman Mert Taylor and Sec. Bob Taylor will be relieved in office for the coming season by Greg Moody, chairman and Bob Pagliai, secretary. (SP

Peterson Flooring Cops 2nd in Rob Roy Golf Loop

Tuesday was the last night of league play and was the position round. The fight was for second place since Dunteman had already cinched the league championship. L-Nor Cleaners learned how potent the Dairy team is when they took a 6 to 1 beating. The loss dropped the Cleaners out of second place.

Hartman House and Peterson Floors played to a bitter 3½ to 3½ deadlock. The split earned the Peterson Floor team 2nd place by a ½ point.

Town and Country Wins Rob Roy Ladies Title

August 22 was the final day of team play in the Rob Roy Ladies Golf League. With teams changing positions each week, and a photo-finish on the last day, surely this was one of the most interesting races in the history of the league. Town and Country nosed out Arlington Pharmacy by 2 points to capture the trophy. Thursday, Aug. 29, the league will have a 2-ball foursome. The closing luncheon will follow at the club house, with election of officers and distribution of prizes.

The match of the season found A. H. Pharmacy, in first place by 1 point, playing the second place Town & Country team. A. H. Pharmacy put up a brave fight; but, hampered by the absence of a team member, was only able to garner 2½ points. Town & Country was able to capture 5½ points with the help of Helen Scheubert's 39 net, and thus became League Champions. Jacob's Ginnie Dent carded a 40 net to help them halve their match with Senne's, this left both teams right where they started.

RHODES' Lucy Waller brought in the day's low net of 38 to push them to a 5 point win over Morava, but it wasn't enough to change either team's position. Emily Mueller's 42 net helped Webber's Paint hold the seventh spot when they took 5 points from Spiegler's Dept. Store. Charm Center tied D.P. Liquor for ninth place by gathering 5½ points from them, with the aid of Eleanor Getz's 41 net. Hagenbring's hit their stride too late in the race to do any good, when Jeanne Lane's 41 net pushed them to a 6-point victory over O'Hare Stadium.

The Birdie of the day was happily carded by Marie Glaser of the second league, when she shot a deuce on Hole 44.

The weekly event was low putts. The winners are as follows: Position 1—Evelyn Myers, 18 (back nine); position 2—Hazel Bond, 16 (back nine); position 3—Ruth Kester, 14 (back nine); position 4—Magdalene Campbell, 15 (front nint); position 5—Ginnie Dent, 16 (back nine).

the HARRIS huddle

GEORGE HARRIS

Labor Day is practically upon us which means one of those prolonged weekends. Wonderful times are planned and so much fun can be had if we are all careful.

Our business is full of preventatives and cures of all kinds of maladies, but we have enough of the normal ailments without being victims of traffic accidents. The highways will be crowded over this weekend, and, as usual there will be lots of careless drivers, so it is up to each one of us, not only, to watch how we drive, but watch out for the other fellow as well. Sounds like the ramblings of an old "Fuddy-Duddy," but seriously, we like to see every one have a good time, but do it in a sane and sensible way. Lots of things to do without getting out on the highway where you become a prime subject for some sort of accident. Remember, if you must be on the highway over this weekend, please BE CAREFUL.

Next week school will be underway—did you get those school supplies yet? If not we have all kinds available for all students. Pleasant weekend to all.

Last call for bridge players to join the Arlington Greens round robin bridge group. The games begin October 4 and will be held the first Friday of each month through May, 1958. Those interested may call Mrs. John Mundell, CL-3-3993.

A board of directors meeting of the Arlington Greens Community association was held August 21 in the home of Mrs. Marge Rieman, recording secretary. Social events for the coming year were discussed, the first of which is a square dance to be held at the Union hotel, Wheeling, October 12. A short business meeting will precede the dancing which begins at 9 p.m. with Floyd Birt calling. Reservations may be made by calling John Davis, CL-3-3985, Ray Epsky CL-3-2780, Elmer Nieman CL-3-3615, Ray Raines CL-3-8758, Bob McLean CL-5-1783 or Bob Lantz CL-3-3979. Plans were also made for a Christmas dance, December 6, the children's Christmas party and a Valentine party. The decision was made to give up the regular monthly business meetings of the association in favor of an occasional one, which would be called when matters important to the community arise or association business warrants, such as the coming election of directors, for which a meeting is planned in September or early October. Members will be notified of the date. Jack Summers, 308 E. Oakton St. has been named chairman of the election committee.

Motor Club Predicts 21 Auto Deaths for Labor Day

The Chicago Motor club predicts that 21 persons will be killed in Illinois traffic accidents over Labor Day weekend.

During the 72-hour period after midnight Friday (Augl 30) the club says 12 persons will die in Indiana traffic accidents.

Of the 21 Illinois fatalities, 2 will be killed in Chicago, 2 in Cook county outside of Chicago, and 17 in downstate Illinois.

THE PREDICTIONS are based on an analysis of current traffic volume and accident rates as well as other statistics compiled by the club's Safety and Traffic Engineering department. They are contingent upon favorable weather conditions, expected to attract a record number of motorists to vacation areas for the three-day holiday.

Charles M. Hayes, motor club president, asked motorists and pedestrians alike to cooperate with law enforcement agencies to "keep the accident rate where it belongs — down." He said the midwest and the nation have a good chance to set an all-time low traffic fatality record this year. He added:

"THERE IS NO reason why the diligent application of the 3 C's of driving and walking won't bring down the accident rate. The use of courtesy, caution and common sense will make this Labor Day weekend a pleasure rather than a tragedy. Let's make motoring a pleasure, not a hardship."

Hayes called on pedestrians, who account for 5 of every 9 traffic fatalities "to do their part" in reducing accidents. He said there is no reason for motorists to stay at home on this holiday weekend, but he urged them to get an early start on their return. (B12

Q. IS IT permissible to sip water at the table while one has food in one's mouth?

A. This is considered bad manners. Only when one has taken a bite of food into the mouth that is too hot is a sip of water condoned.

Q. Should a woman keep her hat on when at an afternoon card party?

A. She should remove it if the party is in a private home. If in a public place, she may either remove it or keep it on, as she wishes.

Q. Is one obligated to bring a gift to an engagement party?

A. Not unless the party is a shower. (B10

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

by PAUL H. LITTLE

Columbia Records has just announced the availability of its first stereophonic tape albums, marking a new era on hi-fi musical reproduction and a step that other major firms like Capitol and Angel are soon to take.

Among the first issues are superb versions of Prokofieff's "Peter and the Wolf" and Leonard Bernstein's magnificent conducting of Stravinsky's "Firebird" ballet suite. As regards "Peter and the Wolf," we are most enthusiastic over the 12-inch disc which Columbia issued a few weeks ago, featuring Cyril Ritchard as narrator with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Eugene Ormandy. On the reverse side is a dynamic version of Benjamin Britten's "Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra." Ritchard as you'll recall, was the Captain Hook of the televised presentation of "Peter Pan."

The Britten work is one of the most delightful in the modern repertory; he uses a theme by Purcell, the first great English composer, and develops it to modern orchestra, winding up in a blazing finale. Reproduction is perfection itself A. gem!

ANOTHER SUPERB Columbia lp, by the same orchestra, offers the concert version of Glieres dramatic, lush and exciting Third Symphony in B Minor, known as "Ilia Mourometz' and depicting the heroic deeds of a legendary Russian Paul Bunyan. Your critic has long cherished a passion for this brilliantly colorful music, and this discing is breathtaking in its excitement and sonics!

From Victor, another album featuring Ritchard's droll whimsy and humor: Offenbach's gay operetta "La Perichole," wherein he plays the speaking role of the Viceroy of Lima, Peru. Patrice Munsel sings the title role, and the orchestra and chorus are from the fabulous "Met" under the baton of Jean Morel. Sung in English, with a splendid cast and a zestful approach throughout, this is one of the summer's most rewarding listening exaged, with complete libretto.

FOR YOU "pops" fans, we cite Golden Crest's 45-rpm platter by Cliff Martin, a folktype singer destined for great things; he offers "When You Walk Down the Road" and "One More Hill." Then there's a platter by the Chili (South of the Border) Peppers, a torrid singing group that has won lots of attention; the platter features "I Love to Eat Chili in Chile," 'This Is True Love," "Why Can It Be?' and "Candy Kisses." Victor has a disc of highlights from Victor Herbert's lovely operetta "Sweethearts," with Al Goodman and his orchestra and popular singing stars; songs like "I Could Be Your Once in a While" and "Angelus" remind us what a master of melody Herbert was. Delightful listening for a summer evening!

All discs were tested on a home hi-fi system popular on the West Coast the Metzner "Starlight" turntable with Weathers MM-1 arm and pickup; the fine Pickering 410 Audio Control preamplifier the clean-powered Electro-Voice 50-watt amplifier; and the Bozak B-310 speaker system; a model of hi-fi clarity and realism!

READING TIPS OF the week: World Publishing Company brings us 'The World of Suzie Wong" by Richard Mason, a novel we regard as one of the most rewarding we've read in years.

It's the story of the love of an English painter for a Chinese fille de joie, so beautifully and probingly told that you will long remember the two main characters. From Fawcett Publishing Company on its Premier label, "The Kipling Sampler" is a fine anthology of Kipling's best short stories, poems ad a lengthy excerpt from his masterpiece "Kim." (DL

Rep. Church Tells of Tax Relief Hearings Here Soon

Rep. Marguetite Stitt Church Senate Select Committee on Small Business has agreed to hold hearings in Chicago on the impact of Federal taxation on small business.

It is hoped that this study will result in new legislation to bring tax relief to small business, which will be introduced early in 1958.

REP. CHURCH, who has been increasingly aware of the unfair burden of taxation imposed on small business, has introduced one corrective measure, H.R. 5639, in this session of Congress.

Tax relief for small business is urgently needed and it is evident that additional hearings will help ensure that action now to be taken will actually bring the necessary relief.

It is hoped that the hearings will not only permit a re-examination of the impact of Federal taxation on small business but will acquaint the small businessmen of the country with the various relief measures under consideration by the Congress, so that their opinions, criticism, and recommendations may be used in drafting an all-inclusive small business tax bill.

IT IS ANTICIPATED that the hearing in Chicago will be held during the week of November 11, 1957.

Those wishing to testify should notify Mrs. Church at her Washington office, Room 1530, New House Office Building, Washington, D. C. (B7

Farewell Parties

Fieldhouse Hit By Explosion

A violent explosion, the worst in Palatine history, tore apart the Palatine park district fieldhouse early last Thursday.

No one was injured in the blast which left the brick veneer building a total loss, estimated between $15,000 and $20,000. The structure was fully covered by insurance.

The Palatine fire department laid the cause of the blast to an accumulation of propane gas probably touched off by an arc spark from one of 3 electric motors. Why the gas, which was used for a popcorn machine in the concession stand, escaped still remains a mystery.

FIRE CHIEF Orville Helms said there was no negligence on the part of anyone.

Mute evidence of the blast violence was glass blown 100 feet, slivers of glass stuck in trees, a metal window frame hurled 20 feet, ¾ of the brick veneer blasted from the walls, walls bowed a foot and a haf at the base, and the east end of the building blasted away.

Firemen answered the early morning call and found flames from one minor fire licking the ceiling. They were quickly extinguished. However, several small smouldering fires had to be hunted and snuffed out inside the building which was so weakened that it could collapse without notice. (B8

Two Suburbanites Named To Young GOP Board

Appointment of Helen McCabe, 925 S. Delphia, Park Ridge, and Austin Wyman Jr., 1728 Marcee lane, Northbrook, to the executive board of the Cook County Young Republican organization was announced this week by Carl R. Hansen, Chicago, chairman.

Miss McCabe, named chairman of college clubs, and Wyman, liaison chairman, will serve until May, 1958, with the 36-man executive board, which meets once a month to guide club policy and to initiate activities and projects.

ANOTHER suburbanite recently installed on the executive board as an elected official is Gerald L. Oehring, 900 S. Home, Park Ridge, serving as north suburban area chairman.

Current project, according to Oehring, is a membership drive to increase enrollment in both the county organization and individual ward clubs, to be in readiness for the 1958 election activities.

Another aim, Oehring said, is to interest young people, regardless of party affiliation, to take an active part in working for better government.

Oehring and Miss McCabe are active in the Maine township Young Republican club, and Wyman with the Northfield club. (B8

Rhodes Sale Precedes Holiday Closing

Rhodes, Inc., Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, will hold its "Value Days" sales event Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The store wil be closed Labor day.

Former Park Ridge Auto Dealer Takes Over Agency

Former Park Ridge—2 Tempo ... Sid Oehring, formerly a Packard and Studebaker dealer in Park Ridge, this week announced he has taken over general management of Morton Pontiac in Arlington Heights.

Oehring said the firm will still be known as Morton Pontiac. His background in the auto industry includes 20 years with General Motors and Chevrolet. He recently was employed by Chrysler corp.

MORTON PONTIAC hopes to occupy new quarters on E. Northwest hwy. in Arlington Heights by September, Oehring said. Sales and maintenance, now in separate locations, will be combined when the new building opens.

"We had hoped to be in the new building this week, as this marks the 50th anniversary of Pontiac," noted Oehring.

"Fifty years ago this week Pontiac began as Oakland Motors. In 1909, the infant firm joined with General Motors, and in 1926 the Pontiac automobile was introduced." (A

Former Policeman Files Suit to Regain His Job

(CNS)—Details of a lawsuit filed by a former Arlington Heights policeman against Carl H. Skoog, village police chief, may be brought out if the case goes to trial.

The lawsuit filed by Robert W. Keslinke, 1715 W. Miner st., Arlington Heights, alleged he was "wrongfully discharged" on June 1, but didn't say what was behind the action.

The Circuit court complaint also accused Skoog and village officials with coercing Keslinke into submitting his resignation as a patrolman.

THE SUIT, asking for a writ commanding the village to reinstate Keslinke to his job, was filed by Atty. William C. Moyer, Arlington Heights. Moyer has been reported "out of town" since the suit was filed last week.

Skoog did not allow Keslinke to answer verbally or in writing oral charges made against him, the suit alleged.

Keslinke also seeks reimbursement for loss of pay since the alleged firing. Skoog says the man resigned.

Others named defendants include W. B. McKaig, chairman, board of fire and police commission; its members; F. Robert Buechner, village manager; Mildred Pearson, village clerk; William F. Meyer Jr., village treasurer; and village trustees. (A

Minister's Son

Samuel Morse, inventor of the telegraph, was the son of a Presbyterian minister.

WHAT ONCE used to be a concession stand in the Palatine park district fieldhouse is viewed in dismay by one of the stand's many purchasers, Kenneth Fieck, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rieck, 26 S. Ashland ave. Before the explosion, a wall separated the customers from the equipment.

A MINOR FIRE, smouldering its way through life, is snuffed out by Palatine volunteer firemen minutes after the worst explosion in Palatine history.

DEBRIS IS EVERYWHERE as the result of an explosion last Thursday morning in the Palatine Park district fieldhouse. A door was hurled into the foreground, a 14-foot wall section toppled in top center, and bricks hurled everywhere.

Announce Night School Program

Adults return to classrooms and shops when Arlington high school adult evening school begins its fall term September 30.

Several new instructors are joining the night school faculty for this season. Ballroom dancing is being returned to the listing of classes with a class to be taught on Wednesday evenings by Tom and Agnes DeBartolo. The DeBartolos have had considerable experience in teaching ballroom dancing at studios in Chicago and other cities, and have performed professionally throughout the Midwest. Registration for the 10-week session must be made by couples in order that lack of partners will not cause a problem.

GEORGE TIDEMAN will conduct the new class in fundamentals of economics on Wednesday evenings. A round table discussion, with no assigned reading or previous study as requirements, the course is designed to provide an opportunity for re-examination of economic principles in seeking an understanding of the way in which these principles may be applied to problems of the individual, industry, and the community.

Great Books discussions are included in the program for this fall, the first year group meeting on Tuesday evenings, and the second year group on Wednesdays.

Hans VonHolwede will be returning to the school for the popular classes in organ playing for fun. Instruction is provided on the Hammond spinet, with arrangements for practice time available. No previous musical study is required for the beginners' class. Those who have had the beginning course, or the equivalent of 10 weeks of instruction, may register for the advanced group. The class instruction is enlivened by frequent demonstrations by Van Holwede of special effects and musical arrangements possible on the instrument.

Instruction in classical organ music is available on the Baldwin console on Tuesday evenings. The lessons are on an individual appointment basis, with registration in a 10-lesson series.

Beginning French Class Set for TV

A course in elementary French—for beginners and for those who just need to brush up—will begin in September on WTTW-Channel 11.

The series, "French through Television," will be telecast from 9 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesdays, beginning September 10, and will be repeated from 4 to 4:30 p.m. on Fridays, starting September 13.

It consists of 48 weekly lessons, on film, based on the Pocket Book edition, "French Through PICTURES." The book is available for 35 cents at bookstores and newsstands.

THE SERIES WAS produced by Language Research, Inc., under the supervision of Harvard University's Graduate School of Education and was telecast originally over WGBH-TV, Boston's educational station. It received a first place award for systematic instruction this year in the American Exhibition of Educational Radio and Television Programs at Ohio State University.

The language is taught by means of related sentences pictorially explained and spoken by native voices. Viewers are encouraged to repeat the sentences after the instructors.

The model voice heard throughout the series is that of Calude Levy, a native of France who has taught French at the Phillips Exeter Academy and at Brown and Nichols Schools in Cambridge, Mass. He is assisted on the screen by Therese Morrel and Natalie de Beauharnais, both of whom have recently come to the United States from France. (B7

A. If the call is unimportant, you can explain and offer to call back later. If, however, the call is important, it takes precedence over the entertainment of you guest.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION

Years of savings went up in smoke when a fire leveled our friend's home. It's costing them $7,000 more than their insurance settlement to buy and furnish a similar home. Can you appraise our home and furnishings so that we can be adequately insured?

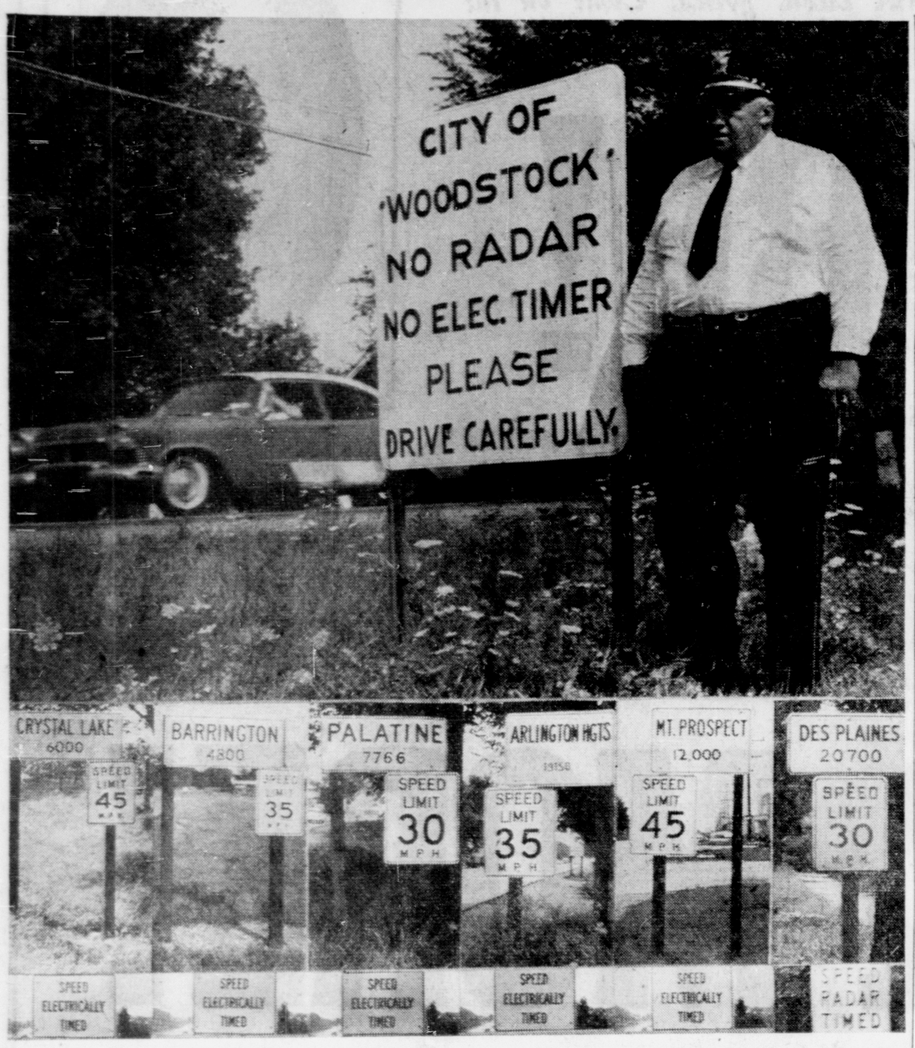
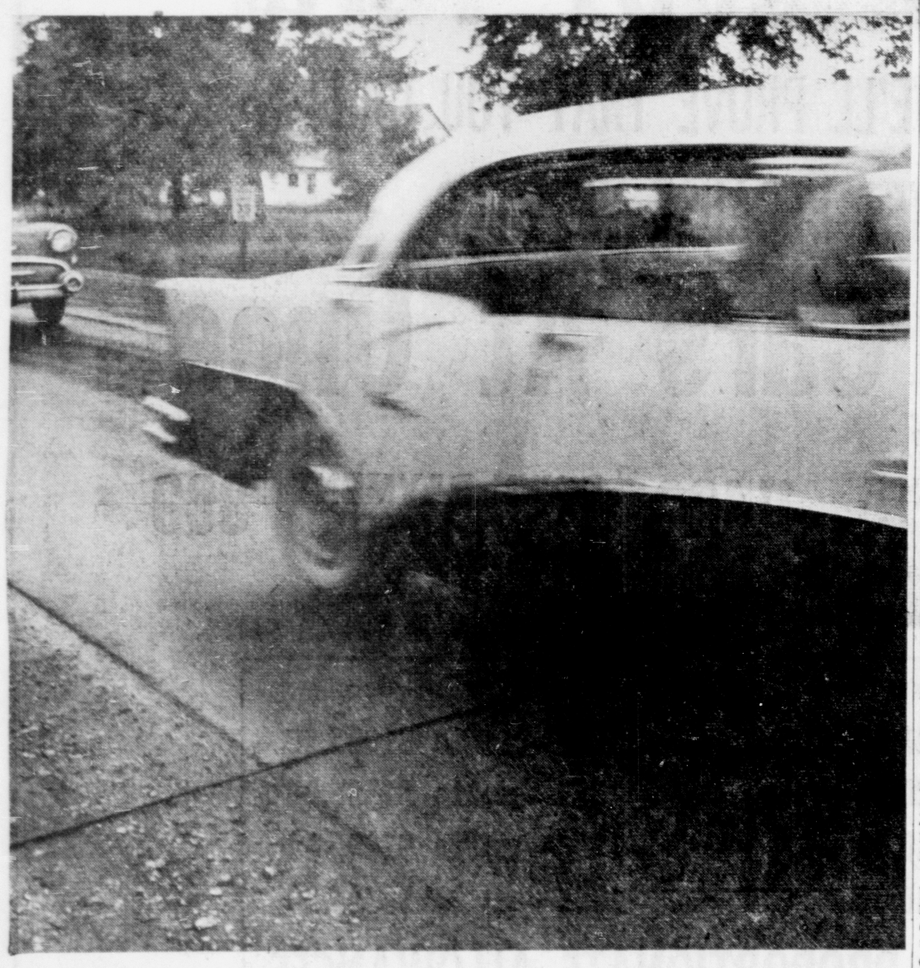
Woodstock's Good Will Gimmick Spurs Debate



CHIEF OF POLICE Emery (Tiny) Hansman is proud of the sign his Woodstock city fathers have posted. Chief Hansman says motorists gladly oblige and reduce speeds. Elsewhere along Northwest hwy. a machine has been instituted to help motorists observe the speed limit. (B8



AT 45 M.P.H. it takes just 1 second to cross the two tubes of an electrical timing device, which are 66 feet apart. At this location in Crystal Lake, police used a different method. They placed the tubes across the road, but there was no officer 500 feet down the road to check speeds. Even so, quite a few brakes were jammed on and tail lights flashed. (B8

Taken a Sunday drive lately out Northwest hwy? Noticed the signs, "Speed Electrically Timed," "Speed Radar Timed"?

Gone as far as Woodstock? There motorists will see signs saying, "City of Woodstock, No Radar, No Electric Timer, Please Drive Carefully."

Do you know why Woodstock is so different from other communities? Do you know why northwest suburban communities installed such timing devices?

PERHAPS THE remarks of the chiefs of police of Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Woodstock will help answer the burning problem.

Woodstock itself was considering purchasing a timing device, but a salesman used the wrong approach before the village board. He told where costs of the device could be paid in a few weeks by arrests.

Whereupon a village trustee, who had been ticketed a few weeks before in a South Chicago suburb, blew up. As a result, the board rejected the timer, and posted their now famous sign which has been reported in newspapers far and wide, including the Wall Street Journal.

BOB DENHART, manager for the Woodstock chamber of commerce, says, "You won't find anyone who doesn't like those signs. One restaurateur had had 100 customers stop specifically on account of the sign."

Even the police get 10 to 15 callers a day at the station saying what a pleasant sight the sign--it's on private property, the the state doesn't permit non-consign is..it's on private property, forming signs. Officers on Northwest hwy. get that many "thank you's" in an hour.

To top if off, Chief of Police Emery (Tiny) Hansman says motorists have reduced their speeds considerably. As one Indianapolis columnist put it, "You leveled with us. We'll go along with you."

A Chicago minister called the sign, "The spirit of God working to the world." A La Porte, Ind., motorist travelling to St. Paul, Minn., wrote to say it was the only sign of its kind.

AN ARLINGTON Heights resident wrote Chief Hansman to say, "To me, it was very refreshing to know that not all towns, villages, and cities believe the majority of automobile drivers need Russian gestapo methods to be good citizens and that Woodstock does not prey on the automobile driver to keep slush funds overflowing."

With this kind of information in hand, Paddock Publications called on other Northwest hwy. chiefs of police to find out why timing devices were installed and signs posted.

Mt. Prospect Chief of Police George E. Whittenberg hit the nail on the head when he remarked, "Speeders are oblivious to signs, timing devices and even their own speedometers. It's purely a case of inattention. Timing devices are one of the ways to make speeders watch road signs which are really signs of life."

CHIEF WHITTENBERG said since Mt. Prospect has instituted electric timing, the number of accidents has decreased sharply and even stop light violations are a great deal less. To show how many inattentive drivers there are, he said, the state is now making all its signs larger.

Here the chief brought out a good illustration. A short time ago Mt. Prospect police stopped 2 motorists who crossed the 66-foot apart tubes doing 55 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone.

When the policeman approached the first car, the officer didn't have a chance. The driver told the officer off in no uncertain terms, saying he was doing only 30 and that they were picking on him.

The second driver, who had been listening for a couple of minutes interrupted. He said, "Mister, I don't know you from Adam. I was following right behind you and you know my speedometer read 55." From that point on, the first driver didn't say a word as he received his ticket.

TIMING DEVICES also can come to the aid of motorists. Arlington Heights Chief of Police Carl Skoog remarked that his office is plagued with calls of parents complaining about cars speeding by their homes, endangering the lives of their children.

What often happens, Chief Skoog said, is that the policeman will set up the timing device in front of the home of the irate parent and invite him to come take a look. What parents see makes them open their eyes.

They, like police, find that only about 2 to 3 per cent of the cars that pass any given spot are speeders. Judging from different viewpoints, it's all where the shoe fits--driver or pedestrian.

POLICE IN ALL cities and villages, whether it be Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect or Woodstock, have only one aim in mind--eliminate deaths and injuries.

How they go about it creates the controversy.

There is no doubt that Woodstock's approach is a good public relations move, but then looking at the problem on the other side, "Didn't modern man in his haste for speed bring on the situation?" (B8

Approve Contract

(CNS) — A $116,136 contract to furnish and install traffic control signals at 7 intersections, including 5 northwest of Chicago, has been awarded by the state.

The work will be done by Wood Electrical Construction, Inc., Chicago. (B8

Q. How long should one stay when making a call of condolence at a friend's home?

A. This call should be especially brief — usually not longer than about 10 or 15 minutes — unless, of course, the bereaved friend asks you to stay longer.

Q. WHAT WOULD BE the correct way for two unmarried sisters to register at a hotel?

A. They should register: "Miss Shirley Walton, Miss Sue Walton, Detroit, Mich."

Buys 3 Homes at A Crack

Most people find it enough to buy one home at a time. Not Frank Scott. He buys 3.

Scott, a retired tool and die-maker, bought the 3 $18,950 ranch homes from Hasbrook Construction co., Inc., in Arlington Heights. One is for him and his wife. The other 2 are for his daughters, Mrs. Robert Floyd and Mrs. Robert LaVernway.

"I FIGURED as long as the homes looked good to me and Mrs. Scott, they would look good to our daughters, too," he said. Mrs. Floyd has 2 children, while Mrs. Lavernway has 1 child.

Scott, who lives at 4819 W. Fletcher in his own 2-flat, said his purchase wasn't on the spur of the moment. He's been looking for the past 2 months, and claims to have seen over 100 model homes in that time.

What advice does Scott have for other home-seekers, even those looking for just one home?

"Pick a home on high ground, to avoid flooding," is the first suggestion. "Look for brand name features, too. And make sure the home is in a planned development, so you can see what the community will be like when it's finished." (BB

Formation of a new ordinary agency, to be known as the Fountain Square agency and headed by Robert B. Piper as manager, has been announced by Louis N. Varnado Jr., director of agencies for the Mid-American home office of The Prudential Insurance company.

Piper, who lives at 630 Dunton, Arlington Heights, has served as training consultant in the Mid-America home office since August of last year, has been named to head up the new office, which will be temporarily located in the Elgin Tower building, 100 E. Chicago st., Elgin.

2 Local Bankers At School

A new enrollment record will be established at this year's Illinois Bankers school at Southern Illinois university, according to Harry B. Baurenfeind, assistant dean of the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education.

Baurenfeind said 117 persons already have registered for the 11-day school, which will open Sept. 3. Sixty will be first-year students and 57 will be completing their second and final session.

Northwest suburbanites attending are Charles J. Nitz of the Mt. Prospect State bank and William E. Staderman of the Wheeling State bank.

Purpose of the school, conducted by the Illinois Bankers Association in cooperation with SIU, is to help train junior executives in the field of banking and finance.

During the two-year course, students study bank operations, loans, accounting business law, investments, insurance and public relations. Prominent Illinois bankers as well as SIU faculty members serve as instructors.

Early Calculating Machine Shown at Chicago Museum

One of the original machines that is said to have been rsponsible for the birth of America's modern age of supersonic mathematical calculation has just been put on display as an added feature of the IBM "World of Numbers" exhibit at the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry.

Developed in 1887 by Dr. Herman Hollerith, one of the country's first inventors of data processing devices utilizing punch card methods, the machine was used first by the U. S. Government to speed up the final computation of the 11th national census in 1890. Tabulating all the data reported by the enumerators from coast to coast, it came up with the final correct population figure in less than a year and a half.

THIS WAS A marked improvement over the results of the 10th national census, when the data divulged by the 1880 enumeration was not completely computed until more than 8½ years later.

Dr. Hollerith's system was fundamentally simple. It consisted of a method of recording facts—for example, the census description of one person—by punching holes in a piece of paper according to a pre-arranged code. The original plan used strips of paper, but it was soon found more practical to use a separate card of standard size and shape for each "unit situation."

The holes in these cards actuated electrically-operated mechanisms which dealt with the particular data represented by the holes, functioning as adding or counting devices, either singly or in combinations.

IN 1896, DR. Hollerith formed the Tabulating Machine Company to develop his machines for commercial use, and in 1911 this company became a part of the International Business Machines Corporation (then known as the Computing-Tabulating-Recording Company).

Another newly unveiled addition to the "World of Numbers" exhibit at the Museum has a name that sounds like the title of one of the current TV quiz shows. Called "What's the Percentage?" the exhibit scores the answers given to 10 questions common to every day life, and which require only a grade school knowledge of fractions and decimals. Some of the questions are the kind the ordinary housewife has to answer every day in figuring out her cooking recipes; others are like those met in estimating interest on bank deposits and installment payments; and others cover still different phases of day to day existence. George Schimming Views Lake From Cabin of Helicopter

George Schimming, operator of Conoco service stations in Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect, joined 31 other area jobbers of Continental Oil company and viewed Chicago's lakefront at 1500 feet from the plush cabins of Sikorsky S-58 helicopters.

ONE GROUP of jobbers boarded the helicopters at O'Hare field and another group at Midway airport. The 2 flights landed at Meigs field, which is a peninsula jutting out into Lake Michigan directly in front of Chicago's loop.

The passengers alighted amidst the clicking shutters of Conoco photographers, after which they were whisked away in air-conditioned buses to the Tribune Tower. (BB

Tree Loss from Dutch Elm Blight Not Tax Deductible

(CNS) — Loss of trees from Dutch Elm or any other disease is not deductible on a home owner's income tax return, says the internal revenue bureau.

H. Allen Long, the bureau's Chicago district director, calls attention to this rule following a recent national magazine report that a home owner was allowed a $700 income tax deduction for a tree killed by Dutch Elm disease.

He points out the internal revenue code allows a deduction for personal property loss only in cases resulting from fire, storm, shipwreck or other casualty or from theft. Uncle Sam holds a deductible casualty loss is one resulting from a sudden destructive force, such as fire, storm, flood, hurricane or other similar event.

"THE DEATH of trees on residential property resulting from Dutch Elm or other disease, does not qualify as a deductible casualty loss due to absence of the sudden force requirement. This same rule also applies to trees destroyed by fungus numbered by various beetles, insects and worms," says Long.

He advises tax payers with questions on this or other federal tax matters to call or visit the local internal revenue office nearest them. (BB

New Launcher Bridges River in 90 Seconds

The army's newest launcher doesn't launch rockets—it launches bridges.

Thanks to the light powerful hydraulic cylinders built by a Melrose Park firm, the tank-mounted device can throw a bridge up to 60 feet in length across a river in 90 seconds.

Designed to speed attacking troops and tanks over rivers, streams, ravines and other battlefield obstacles, the bridge launcher can pick up the 15,000 pound bridge just as quickly and move on to the next crossing.

FIRST PRODUCTION model of the device was successfully tested recently in Tulsa, Okla., for the Army Corps of Engineers by the manufacturer, Unit Rig & Equipment co., Tulsa. Vehicles subsequently ordered will be equipped with cylinders produced by Miller Fluid Power Division of Flick-Reedy corporation, Melrose Park.

In operation, the army's latest mechanized marvel pulls up to a ravine or river with the bridge folded in piggy-back position. One of the big cylinders begins to move the still-folded span into a vertical position.

Another cylinder located at the bridge fold scissors the sections open and begins to straighten the span out. In seconds the bridge is completely flat, and after the launcher backs off, ready for traffic.

AFTER TROOPS, trucks, and attacking tanks are across, the launcher scurries over the bridge just laid, picks it up, and hurries to the next battlefield obstacle.

The 2-man crew and launching mechanism are protected from enemy fire by armor plate. The aluminum bridge of 60-ton capacity which the hydraulic launching mechanism handles so easily consists of 2 treadways, each 4 feet 11 inches wide, with a gap of 3½ feet between them.

The cylinders which do the lifting and delicate positioning of the span are simple in design, but must be manufactured with great precision to withstand the tremendous internal pressures generated by oil forced into them.

Basic components are a metal tube, a circular disc or piston of the same diameter as the inside of the tube, and a rod which is attached to the piston.

OIL FORCED into the tube, which is closed at both ends, exerts pressure on the disc, driving it forward and moving the piston rod. Speed and force of the movement is delicately controlled by varying the flow of oil by a system of valves.

Cylinders manufactured by Flick-Reedy's cylinder division vary in size from units which can be held in the hand to giants longer than a car. Those used in the bridge launcher range in length from 3 inches to nearly 7 feet. (BB

Edsels Ready For Fall Debut

A brilliant new vertical front styling theme and several outstanding engineering innovations that include "Teletouch" push button transmission controls located in the steering wheel hub are features of America's newest automobile — the Edsel.

Under actual development since July of 1954, mechanical and engineering prototypes of the Edsel have been driven more than 1,500,000 miles in one of the most thorough and comprehensive test program ever undertaken by a manufacturer.

THE CAR WILL be publicly introduced in dealer showrooms on Wednesday, Sept. 4. Northwest suburbs dealer is at 1565 Ellinwood, Des Plaines.

Available in 18 models and four series — Ranger, Pacer, Corsair and Citation — the Edsel medium price car line offers 2 convertibles, sedans, two-door and four-door hardtops and five station wagons. One convertible is available in the Pacer series and the other in the Citation, at the top of the line.

Dual headlights, self-adjusting brakes which automatically compensate for brake lining wear, safety rim wheels and four barrel carburetion are standard equipment with all Edsels. Also standard, with purchase of a heater, is a unique single-dial heater-defroster-ventilator control which eliminates the standard, but complex, system of levers, knobs and air vent doors.

THE EDSEL vertical grille combined with an inner chrome impact ring and crisp horizontal sections on either side give an easily identifiable look of quiet elegance from blocks away. The concave sculptured sides have an ever-widening teardrop effect and carry completely through to the taillights, giving a look of fluid motion and power.

New fabrics and patterns are featured in Edsel harmonizing interiors, color-keyed to the 19 solid and 31 two-tone exterior combinations. Exceptional comfort is provided by new contour seats which reduce long trip fatigue.

The entire instrument cluster has been designed to locate all controls and dials within easy, natural view and reach of the driver. Mounted high in the cluster, beneath the raised padded safety cowling which eliminates any panel glare, is the new floating drum type speedometer which rotates smoothly and evenly as the car accelerates or slows.

THE NEW E-400 Edsel engine is available in Ranger and Pacer series and the five station wagons. It develops 400 foot pounds of torque and 303 horsepower and with it comes a choice of standard, overdrive or automatic transmissions.

The E-475 engine, for the Corsair and Citation series, is rated at 475 foot pounds of torque and 345 horsepower. Only automatic transmission is available on these series.

"Teletouch" push button automatic transmission controls are located in the steering wheel hub. An electric servo motor does the work as the driver selects the required gear with a finger touch about equal to the pressure required to operate a typewriter key. (BB

Tribute to Musician

In its ventures for the future, Music-on-Stage, Inc., will sorely miss for a long time the participation of one of its charter members, Phyllis Snetsinger Wilson, who passed away July 27 at Elmhurst hospital.

In the midst of pain which presaged her death, she gave her usual wonderful help to the group before and during the performance of their first production last February. She accompanied at the piano with her customary sparkle and decision, supporting in every way the singers on stage, alert always to pick them up and carry them on if there was faltering.

For many of those in the organization who had worked with her in various other musical doings of the area, it was what they knew they could expect. They knew, what new members also learned about her: that she had a wealth of musical talent and knowledge that constantly bubbled over into ideas for expression of the talent of others — that she was a good sport and had a lot of what in old fashioned terms is called "spunk" — that her cheerfulness and sense of humor rarely deserted her — that she liked people and working or playing with them.

This public tribute is from a group which will find a substitute for her place in the organization so that its activity can go on as she helped plan it — but still missing her vital presence.

Spartan Manner of Living

As an Arlington Heights village tax-payer and home owner I would like to present the views felt by an increasing number of local citizens on our school situation.

Briefly it is this: That your publication and many others are always the first to lend your editorial support to any school measure whatever its merit, and about the last to look at the actual situation.

Village tax levies for school purposes are already dangerously high. About one more step up and a chain reaction will be set off with home owners that can prove disastrous. Taxes on property are higher each year by about 25 per cent on levies already made.

We have one of the highest in the area and there is no use in decrying federal, state and county over-expenditures unless we first begin to practice economy at home. A limit has to be reached sometime, and the schools are no exception.

Children must be educated and the community must provide the facilities. But it doesn't have to be given to them lined with gold and dressed up in a "Hollywood" version. The truth is that a very good portion of what the school board asks for could be trimmed to a more Spartan manner of living with the end result the same, or better.

The forthcoming September 7 voting will prove that a halt must be made to ever increasing demands. The answer to the cries of "School" and "Children" should be, "Sorry, but the purse is flat—and it's going to remain flat. You'll have to learn to live on your income."

The same answer should be printed in large red letters and placed in front of every village, township and county official.

Arlington Heights tax-payers can't stand any more of the merry-go-round of more annexations, more sub-divisions, more children, more schools, and more taxes. We are not a wealthy community and we never will be. Taxes—high taxes—are forcing the sale of many homes now. They are out of line for services rendered. Let's hold the line, or we'll have a tax-payers' strike.

G. P. SMITH

Recommended Reading

On September 7 we must go to the polls to vote again on the proposed school tax rate increase. Every taxpayer ought to read the article "Do School Pupils Need Costly Palaces?" found in the September issue of the Readers Digest, page 37.

Thank You from Operators

The telephone operators of Palatine are a thing of the past. We gave ourselves a farewell cut-over party Saturday at the home of Mrs. C. Lynch.

I wish to thank Palatine Pastry, Countryside Cleaners, Nelson's Flowers, Zimmer Hardware, Schoppe's, Continental Hardware, Palatine and Coleman's Drugs and Foster's Department store for the gift certificates they donated as prizes for the party.

I would also like to thank Jack Wilcox of Suburban Shoes and Hansen's Hardware for their generous donations that were given to the grand prize winners of the evening: Hilde Senne, who was elected Queen of Palatine Operators and Ethel Nelson, who won a game by not saying "no" all evening.

Your contributions were gratefully accepted by the operators.

Height of Inefficiency

When a firm of engineers approves countless sewer laterals for builders erecting hundreds of homes without determining whether the main sewers will take the additional pressure, it should be considered the height of inefficiency.

We, residents on N. Pine and N. Belmont aves., have a glaring example of inefficiency. For 8 years yards and gardens of both streets have been flooded by overflow of the Pine ave. sewers, practically all of which are cemented shut to slow down the flow; our lawns and gardens act as veritable cesspools. After numerous complaints the village engineers surveyed the situation; to us, the residents, the problem was simple—a larger sewer on Pine ave. and the drains opened up to permit the water to flow into it. The engineers, however, decided that an auxiliary sewer be laid on Hawthorne to allow the water to drain into it. This was done 3 years ago to the tune of $10,000. The result? The drains on Pine are still cemented shut so the water can't get down to the $10,000 auxiliary! Did the engineers ever check back to see whether their recommended "remedy" did the job? Evidently not. Well, WE did during each heavy rainfall and find no water in the auxiliary catch basin—it still drains in our gardens and lawns!

So, sincere congratulations to the Trustees for shopping around—it might be a step in the right direction!

Teamwork Pays Off

The Way We See It

Villages, Merchants Fight Downtown Districts' Decay

Downtown business districts in older, established northwest suburban communities will undergo wholesale changes in the year immediately ahead.

The changes will be much more extensive than those made during the first decade of post-war suburban growth. They will have to be.

For, while the downtown areas of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Palatine haven't been standing still, their commercial development has lagged far behind the towns' astounding population spurts.

The opening of regional shopping centers within a few minutes' driving distance has drawn business away from the central business districts. The obvious reason for this is that the regional shopping centers contain everything from department stores to medico-dental buildings and provide acres of free parking.

The success of these centers, adapted to the habits of the car-borne suburbanite, has brought downtown merchants to their feet. They realize now that it's going to take more than "Shop in your home town" slogans to maintain healthy downtowns.

Village governments are co-operating in current efforts to strengthen older shopping districts. For local officials know, even though most of them earn their living outside of their home towns, that every residential taxpayer has a stake in boosting local business.

Business license fees, real estate taxes and sales taxes paid by the business community represent important sources of revenue for village governments and school districts.

Village boards are sympathetic to the request for better street lighting, more off-street parking facilities and "room to grow" and now are taking steps to meet these needs.

Mount Prospect's village officials last year hired a planning firm to make an overall survey of community problems and told the firm to study the downtown area first.

In scarcely 6 months the planners did come up with a scheme to develop a shopping center on land, now vacant or used for non-commercial purposes, within the triangle bounded by Northwest hwy., Central rd. and Main st.

The plan, or rather plans, for there are 3 alternate proposals, demonstrates imaginative thinking on the part of the present property owners and planners alike. The chamber of commerce has marshalled support for the project and early next month the village board will begin discussing development of a first section.

An idea of the scale of the project can be gained from the information that the first section would have parking spaces for 900 autos.

If the project can move from the blueprint stage into actuality, Mount Prospect will be given one of the most attractive and convenient shopping districts of any Chicago suburb.

Plans to modernize the heart of Arlington Heights have been talked about for years. But only within the past 12 months has there been action, except for improvement of Duuton and Campbell streets several years ago.

Achievements to date include the opening of an 80-car shopper parking lot and partial development of a 500-car shopper and commuter lot.

Authorized but not yet begun is the widening of many downtown streets and streets on the fringe of the business district.

Experience has shown that when such fringe areas are improved, business will move there, displacing older homes. Thus the direction of business expansion in Arlington Heights will be outward from the present core, rather than one planned development as in Mount Prospect.

A large shopping center will open in Arlington next year, but it won't be of the size of the one contemplated in Mount Prospect, nor will it adjoin an established area.

Arlington Heights is using the piecemeal approach in pushing parking, street widening and lighting programs separately. However, a planning firm has been retained and is now making the same type of study Mount Prospect ordered.

The planners presumably will determine whether the separate programs are adequate to rejuvenate the downtown or whether there are gaps to be filled.

Newer northwest communities, Prospect Heights and Rolling Meadows for instance, have no such complex situations to deal with. They were lucky to have been born after the automobile drastically altered America's buying habits.

But in the older villages, where expansion and improvement of the central shopping area is difficult and costly, it is heartening to see that businessmen and village officials are working together at the task.

Puffer Predicts 'Bulging Seams'

School Jam for Suburbs?

"Cook county suburban schools will again be bulging at the seams," declares Superintendent of Schools, Noble J. Puffer.

"Based upon preliminary estimates of enrollments, there will be 170,478 pupils enrolled in the elementary schools, representing a 9 per cent increase over 1956-57, when the enrollment was 156,353.

"Forty-five districts have provided 446 new classrooms, and in addition there will be 14 new gymnasiums, 4 auditoriums, 23 multi-purpose rooms, 11 lunchrooms and 7 libraries. These total new facilities will be occupied for the first time this fall and will cost $14,505,000.

"Unfortunately, 16 districts will have 181 classes on half-day sessions and 27 districts will have children attending classes in rented or sub-standard classrooms, which will total 103 rooms.

"ESTIMATED HIGH school enrollment will be 60,876 pupils compared with 54,252 last year, which is a large increase of 12.2 per cent. One hundred and ninety-six new classrooms will be occupied for the first time in suburban high schools and in addition, there will be 8 new gymnasiums, 4 auditoriums, 2 lunchrooms, 3 libraries and 3 shops available to suburban youth. The total cost of these new classrooms in the high schools is $18,232,000. The total cost of new facilities available both in the elementary and high school field is $32,737,000.

"From present indications," said Puffer, "there wil be continued growth in enrollment in the succeeding years because of 2 factors: 1. Continued high birth rate. 2. Continued brisk construction of new homes in the suburban area.

"Most suburban schools will open on Tuesday, September 3rd, although a few will delay their opening until September 9th."

Way Back When

Mayor Shows Saloonkeeper He Can't Abuse Law, Police

50 Years Ago

August 30, 1907

Mt. Prospect—L. W. Wille, and Albert Wille have formed a co-partnership under the firm name of Wille Bros. and will be ready for business Sept. 1, with a stock of coal, salt and all kinds of feed. We also do feed grinding and buy country produce.

Wedding bells were ringing Thursday, Aug. 20 for the marriage of Miss Martha Meier, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meier, and Mr. Louis Kirchhoff, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kirchhoff. The ring ceremony was performed at St. Peter's Lutheran church.

The delightful event was celebrated at the home of the groom's parents on the Wheeling and Elk Grove town line, half way between Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect, where the spacious lawn, large house, yard and barns furnished ample accommodations for the 125 invited families who graced the happy occasion.

Among the many welcome guests from all the surrounding country, were Meyer Bros., of Chicago, (to whom Mr. Kirchhoff has shipped his milk the past 25 years), with their families.

The German-Americans are our most conservative, industrious and prosperous citizens and this marriage unites two of the most prominent and successful families of Wheeling township, which gives this young couple a great start on the road to prosperity and happiness. They are wise to stick to the farm, where they have the best opportunities for health and enjoyment.

The Board of Education and teachers are anxious to have the Arlington Heights public schools accomplish the most possible for the pupils and render the highest service to the taxpayers for the money invested.

Transient students will be admitted on very liberal terms as large classes create more enthusiasm. If there are a sufficient number of pupils desiring to take the work, arrangements will be made to complete a 3 year high school course this year.

MAYOR A. F. VOLZ merits the commendation and good opinion of the better element of Arlington Heights by the stand he has taken for law and order. On his complaint Chas. Claussen was arrested and fined $50 and costs for violating the village ordinances by keeping his saloon open after 11:30 p.m. and insulting public officials while in the discharge of their duties.

Having heard complaints about the saloons, Mayor Volz decided to investigate for himself, so he and policeman Diebold made the rounds Thursday night to see what was going on. At Claussen's place they heard boisterous talk and baudy singing and watched patiently after the closing hour to see how long he would keep open.

They saw several fellows leave the place just before midnight; still the light burned brightly; then the mayor told the policeman to tap on the door and notify Claussen that it was time to close up; the proprietor came out and abused the officer, also told the mayor that the Madison House didn't respect nor care for the village ordinances or officers but would be run as he chose.

This impudence could not be tolerated in an intelligent community and Volz decided that it was necessary to show the saloon keepers that the state laws and village ordinances must be respected.

MRS. ANNA STELLING, an old settler of Long Grove died Aug. 18. She was born in Hanover, Germany in 1849 and came to Long Grove in 1871. She was a faithful and beloved member of the Long Grove Evan. Luth. Church and Frauen Verein.

H. F. Harmening, one of Palatine's oldest citizens, died of senile dementia August 26, aged 72 years. He came to Palatine in 1847 when 12. He and his wife, Miss Sophia Sandman, resided on a farm in Plum Grove until 35 years ago when they moved to town and deceased bought the interest of H. C. Batterman of the firm of Batterman & Co. which then changed the name to Anderman & Co.

40 Years Ago

August 31, 1917

Wheeling—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller are happy parents of a baby girl born August 26.

Miss M. Gudeschwager of Fond du Lac is the new operator at the depot. Louis Siebert, like the other young men, has been called to serve their country as soldiers. The ladies have to take their places.

The Ice Cream Social Friday was a success in spite of the cold weather. The proceeds to to the newly organized Red Cross Chapter of which Mrs. Glenn Gemmill was elected president and Mrs. A. Utpadel Jr. secretary-treasurer.

MT. PROSPECT — A. F. Jahncke's new $7,000 store building is nearing completion. It is a brick structure 12 ft. longer and 6 ft. wider than the building that burned.

Shermerville — A new banker in town; a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gus Olson, Sunday, Aug. 26.

The churches of Du Page county will hold their annual Anti-Saloon League field day Sunday September 9 with League speakers in all cooperating churches.

The Anti-Saloon cause is making commendable progress. The measure in the food control bill, denying distillers the use of grain for the manufacture of whiskey, has been passed by Congress and at midnight September 8, the fires will be pulled in the distilleries and the smoke from their tall chimneys will never darken the sky again in the manufacture of whiskey for beverage purposes during the war.

ROSELLE — Louis Backhaus and Mrs. Runge were married Aug. 23 at York Center where they will make their future home, thus Roselle loses one of her respected citizens.

Palatine and Mt. Prospect will play a series of three games to decide the championship of the Northwest Suburban League.

Palatine — Tom Daniels guessed it. It was at the post-office Wednesday morning that mail carrier of route one said to Postmaster Godknecht, "When John Gainer carries out 150 lbs. of mail order catalogues to be distributed along his route and still has a smile on his face, there is a reason."

And Tom, being one himself, declared said smile was of the father-in-law species. Mr. Gainer refused to admit it but he left a mail order catalogue at each of his patrons as if he was distributing wedding cigars and bon bons. A phone message confirmed it. August 27 Miss Elsie Gainer became the bride of Robert Foskett.

CHAS. H. SEIP will open his theatre for the fall and winter season this Sunday when he will inaugurate a vaudeville program and a special 2-reel Keystone Comedy each Sunday evening. There will be 5 acts of vaudeville and the two-reel comedy. Admission will be 10 and 25 cents.

30 Years Ago

August 27, 1927

Mr. Louis Freise of Palatine, who is connected with the Mid City Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, has purchased the Flentie property upon West Campbell street, Arlington Heights, and expects to erect a modern business block with stores upon the first floor and flats above. This property is improved at present with the restaurant building and an old blacksmith shop, one of the old landmarks of Arlington Heights.

DISCUSSING names of old homes the other day we were reminded of a proposed law some years ago requiring every family homestead — especially in farms and suburbs — to have a name. The first place in this vicinity I became familiar with was Hillside Farm out on east Euclid, which in earlier times was a larger estate. The home of the Drapers has ever been a synonym for hospitlity.

Equally old and equally remembered was Sunnyside, the home of the Olmsteads. This family is closely identified with the early history of Arlington Heights. Sunnyside was purchased from the Olmsteads in the early nineties and on the block was erected the home of Mr. Richard Bray and the Olmstead mansion became the home of A. L. Kates, who sold it to the Heller family, who now reside in the house, corner of Dunton and Euclid.

THE EVERGREENS, a large farm of many acres has been built and beautified as a family home by Mr. and Mrs. James Dunton, who through death and change, sold the place to strangers. Coming to town in 1892, we first knew the Evergreens as the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sisson. There has never been a more hospitable or generous family in this town. Dr. Guinn was one of the later owners of the place.

The place has been cut up and the house made into apartments.

The Pines, the home of the Elbert Wheeler family, is another place well marked for its hospitality. The Maples, long the Stanger home, was the scene of many happy gatherings of the Methodist young people and will long be a landmark in the memory of old friends of the family, now scattered. Mrs. A. T. Chidley still lives in town.

Summit Lawn, the home of Mr. R. B. Mitchell who on the highest point in Arlington Heights, built his home. It burned down some years ago and on the spot Mr. Frank Wayman built a new house. Spring Lawn, now known as The Fesslers dairy farm, has a history which would require more space than can here be allotted—The Observer.

August 27, 1937

The most eligible bachelor of Arlington Heights, Henry Dreyer of the Dreyer Electric Shop, surprised his many friends Saturday when he took the marriage vows with a Norwood Park young lady.

The Arlington business man has been a "hold out" for several years and signs of weakening were not detected, probably because he resides so far away in Niles. The fortunate young lady is Miss Margaret Koch.

MRS. WILLIAM BUSSE JR., passed away at her home in Mt. Prospect August 20. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fenz, she was born in Schaumburg in 1888.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank White, 17 S. Dunton, residents of Arlington Heights 50 years, celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary August 22.

The farm of Louis Heuer, R1, Mt. Prospect, was declared the neatest dairy farm in District 7 in the fourth annual contest held by the Pure Milk Association.

Heavy rains, 3.9 inches of immeasurable benefit to Du Page county farmers fell the latter part of last week. This is the heaviest fall of rain recorded in summer since July 2 and 3, 1933. The rain provided water for the thirsting corn which showed some signs for "firing."

Warn Veterans

Failure to report income above the legal limits will be costly to veterans or their survivors receiving pension from Veterans Administration, Robert D. Beer, manager of the Chicago VA regional office, said this week.

Not only will they be required to return all overpayments from the date their income exceeded the legal limits but also all regular pension payments back to the first of the year, Beer said.

However, if the pensioner notifies VA promptly of an income increase above the statutory limits. VA will discontinue the pension as of the last payment and no overpayment of any type will result, he said.

BEER EXPLAINED pensions are NOT payable under law if the income of a pensioner without dependents exceeds $1,400 a year, or $2,700 with dependents.

Since VA has to check the annual income of pensioners every January under the law, any increase above the legal limits from any source other than VA will be discovered at that time, Beer said.

"So, it's better to report excess income right away and avoid an overpayment," he said. (WUS

There never has been a car like the Edsel!

Behind it lie all of the resources of Ford Motor Company, all of the experience, all of the engineering skill.

Behind the Edsel, too, is the finest group of dealers any new car has ever had.

Their facilities are as new in concept as the Edsel itself. One example: service departments built around a completely new idea in car care — Edsel Green Light Service.

In getting ready to serve you, Edsel Dealers have matched the quarter-billion-dollar investment of the Ford Motor Company in the Edsel.

Why have these men invested so much in a car you haven't seen? The answer is this: they have seen it, they have driven it. They know that you will find many things that make the Edsel different from any car you have ever driven. More exciting, more sure, more safe.

Driving a car that is truly original — not a copy of any existing car, not a compromise — is an experience you will never forget. Plan now to accept your Edsel Dealer's invitation to see and drive the Edsel.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible will include the account in Luke of Jesus' healing of Peter's mother-in-law (4:39): "And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her: and immediately she arose and ministered unto them."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (25:22-26): "Though demonstrating his control over sin and disease, the great Teacher by no means relieved others from giving the requisite proofs of their own piety. He worked for their guidance, that they might demonstrate this power as he did and understand its divine Principle."

A man from Texas was standing next to a box of dynamite caps when it exploded. On the regular Sunday television series "How Christian Science Heals" viewed on Channel 7 at 9:45 a.m., he tells how he relied on prayer alone and was healed of the injuries which resulted. A businessman from Illinois also describes his healing of a broken palate, twelve broken ribs and other injuries after he'd been in a serious automobile accident.

Suburban 'Fringe' Recalls A Vanishing Way of Life

by CHARLES HAYES

Suburbanites have become accustomed to the crunch of steam shovel and whang of carpenter tools — familiar sounds of a changing landscape.

Mammoth housing developments are rapidly eating up corn field and potato plot. The farm is diminishing, its place now taken by curvilinear streets lined by like ranch homes and tri-level bungalows.

YET, SUBURBIA'S "fringe" areas are relatively untouched—nostalgic reminders of earlier, quieter days.

There's still rural Cloverdale, south of Bartlett, in north DuPage county—a pleasant area of rolling hills, small streams, and sprawling, prosperous - looking farms.

To the north—between Wheeling and Half Day—is tiny, near-forgotten Aptakisic. Once a bustling farm center, it exists today chiefly on a greenhouse, lumber yard, and memory.

In 1850, German immigrants began flocking to Buffalo Grove, northwest of Wheeling. For more than a century, this scenic area retained the quiet charm of a rural settlement tucked away in the sleeve of a slumbering suburbia. But with the "new awakening" of the suburban giant, even Buffalo Grove is doomed to "progress." Already its limits are being pressed by mass building projects.

LONG GROVE, first settled in 1837, was the center of a logging community when it was known as Mutterscholtz. At the peak of its development, its business district included a hotel, cheese factory, dance hall, cider mill, blacksmith shop, and general store.

Now it's an area of small farms and country estates. Its "business district" draws "tourists" with its old fashioned atmosphere, all kinds of antiques and gift novelties. With stores now located in barns, former blacksmith shops and general store, large homes, and garages, the main section of Long Grove is little changed in appearance from many years ago and has attained a certain fame for its antique and contemporary gift business.

SCHAUMBURG Center, 3 miles north of Roselle, was a thriving village at the turn of the century. Besides Schaumburg House — a building which housed a general store, tavern, post office, and meeting hall—the settlement had a tailor, cobbler, wagon maker, school, church, blacksmith shop, mill, and bank. A creamery, which has stood abandoned for more than 30 years, daily hauled their milk to the center for processing as dairy products. The advent of railroads and trucks spelled the end of once-prosperous Schaumburg's agricultural economy.

Today Schaumburg—ringed by bustling, virile residential growth—may be due for a new lease on its half-century prosperity.

Joyce Karowski Weds Milton Strong June 1

—Bak Studio

At high mass in St. James church, Arlington Heights, June 1, Miss Joyce Karowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Karowski, 218 N. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights, and Milton Thomas Strong, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Strong, 800 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights, were united in marriage by Rev. Robert A. Reicher. Baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and pompons decorated the church for the double ring service.

Organist was Sister M. Amabilia and soloist was Mrs. Harris, who sang "Pants Angelicus," "Ave Maria" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" were sung as a duet by Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Robert Peterson. The mass was sung by the St. James choir, of which the bride has been a member for many years.

The bride chose a gown of white peau de soie fashioned with cathedral train, fitted bodice with bouffant skirt. The skirt front was of re-embroidered alencon also trimmed with seed pearls. at the scoop neckline which was also trimmed with sed pearls. She wore a 2-tier fingertip french illusion veil with matching lace crown beaded in seed pearls. She carried a cascade of amazon lilies with garlands of stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Frances Barr of Chicago was the bride's matron of honor while Miss Audrey Brickman of Glenview and Mrs. Barbara Schroder of Chicago were bridesmaids. All wore identical gowns of white silk organdy made with front panels embroidered in tiny yellow silk flowers and interlaced with yellow ribbon. They wore matching yellow picture hats, white shoes and gloves and carried crescents of yellow roses and carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Karowski wore a dusty rose alencon lace sheath dress with matching hat and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue linen sheath dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Roy Barr of Chicago was the bridegroom's best man and Charles Grant of Palatine and Kenneth Peters of Chicago were ushers.

A wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at Brandt's restaurant in Palatine, immediately following the ceremony and a dinner and reception for 350 guests was held at 6:30 p.m. at Arlington post 981, VFW club.

The couple honeymooned in New York and Washington, D.C. and are now at home at 1030 N. State rd., Arlington Heights. The bride is employed by Allstate Insurance Co. and the bridegroom by Des Plaines Photo Service.

Junior High Teacher Marries Law Student

When students at Arlington South junior high school return to their homemaking classes this fall they will refer to their teacher as Mrs. Nealis instead of Miss Offringa as she was married August 11 in First Methodist church, West Branch, Iowa.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Offringa of West Branch, Miss Mary Ruth Offringa and Harold D. Nealis Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Nealis Sr. of Joliet, were married in a 4 p.m. ceremony read by Rev. Leroy Bauman amid a setting of gladioli, palms and lighted candles. Organist for the service was Mrs. Maryann Crew and soloist was Miss Audrey Foster, both of West Branch.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a white appliquet cotton satin gown with deep round neckline, long sleeves tapered to points at the wrists, empire bodice and with long torso midriff extending in a princess panel to the floor in front and to a deep point in back. The full skirt of the dress was joined at the hip line and extended into a cathdral train. Her bouquet was of French feathered carnations and yellow roses in a colonial style. Her tulle veil was elbow length and was attached to a tiara of seed pearls.

Maid of honor was Miss Jayne O'Boyle of Kansas City, Mo. who wore a waltz-length gown of cotton satin in a pale beige shade, styled similar to the bride's gown. She also wore a tiara of flowers which matched the colonial bouquet she carried, and white accessories. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Alan Yoder, sister of the bride, and Mrs. John Cooper. They wore pale turquoise gowns identical to the maid of honor's gown.

Best man was Robert Perona of Joliet, cousin of the bridegroom, and ushers were John Cooper of Vinton, Iowa, and Alan Yoder of Cedar Rapids. Ring bearer was Jon Cawelti of Winnetka, nephew of the bride.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Mrs. Offringa received in a French blue lace over blue taffeta and Mrs. Nealis Sr. in a dove gray lace over rose taffeta.

The bride created the dresses worn by herself and her attendants as well as her going-away costume. She was graduated from the State University of Iowa and also did graduate work at the university where she was affiliated with Delta Zeta social sorority, Omicron Nu and Pi Lambda Theta honorary societies. The bridegroom was graduated from Joliet Junior college and attended the University of Illinois. He will attend law school in Chicago this fall and the couple will reside at 113 W. Eastman, Arlington Heights.

Results Good When Freeze Most Cheese

When you freeze aged and young Cheddar cheeses, you can expect satisfactory products.

This is what a University of Illinois foods research worker found when these cheeses were frozen 2, 4 and 6 months.

Virginia Charles says aged Cheddar became rather crumbly in texture and was scored only fair in quality after being frozen for these 3 periods. Young Cheddar was considered good in quality after 2 months and high fair after 6 months in the freezer.

OTHER CHEESES that can be frozen are the hard or semi-hard ones, such as brick, Edam and Swiss.

To prepare cheeses for a freezer, use slices about ½ or 1-inch thick. Make the packages small so that the cheese will freeze rapidly, because color and texture will change if the freezing process is slow. Both moisture-vapor-proof heavy aluminum foil and plastic film wrap are good materials for wrapping cheese.

If you buy small quantities of the commercial cheeses, you can freeze them in their original packages or cartons. You may want to add an outer wrapping to insure a tight seal.

Quite Contrary

Social Pressure Sprouts 'Thumb'

by MARY

What do you know, Father has a green thumb. After all these years, he has finally decided that the lawn and the accoutrements that go with are too important for words.

When we had a great big lawn and a great big garden, he thought they looked simply lovely and, as he lolled in the lawn chair, was very lavish in his praise of our efforts. He was awfully nice about getting us all the tools that were needed for lawn grooming.

AND THEN WE moved. We moved into a neighborhood where the men spend Saturday and Sunday manicuring their lawns right up to the hilt. And, if our lawn isn't up to snuff, they are not above dashing out and manicuring ours too. This twitted the man in the family on his pride. Which is a very sensitive spot to be twitted on.

So he started in sort of from scratch by getting out his nice noisy lawn mower and running around after it one whole day. Virtue and perspiration shone from his face and we all agreed that the lawn did, indeed, look spectacular. The neighbors sweep their lawns too. So that came next on the list. He sweeps.

RESTING ON his laurels one day, he happened to glance out of the window and guess what a neighbor was doing. He was edging. I don't mean that he was edging up to anything. He had a gadget that cuts the grass and sod away from the sidewalk. The man in my life looked aghast and inquired if I thought he should edge too as long as the rest of the boys were.

I assured him that I thought that edging was perhaps carrying neatness too far and that if he didn't want to edge he just shouldn't edge. It was all right with me if our grass crawled all over the sidewalk. Then he ran outdoors and asked the neighbor if he thought our lawn should be edged. Neighbor told him of course we should edge if we wanted to be in the swim.

SO, HE EDGES. And quite nicely too. What I am really waiting for is to catch one of the male neighbors doing dishes or ironing.

Who knows where all this might lead?

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

All Play Is Monotonous

Dear Peg:

Home again—and I don't mind a bit. We had a perfect vacation, but more than 2 weeks of having nothing to do but play all day can actually grow monotonous (I would never have believed this a month ago!). Someone once said: "I thank God every morning when I get up that I have something to do that day."

A 2-week vacation from motherly, household and social duties gives you an inkling of what the author meant. How unbearable life would be if we had no one to consider but ourselves and nothing to do but satisfy our own desires. So, after a little flight, it's good to be home and have the family together again.

Although the weather has still been warm enough for a couple of hours a day at the beach there's an urgency in the air that fortells the approaching end of summer and the coming of autumn. The girls too are talking excitedly about school opening—especially Bridget who will be in kindergarten this fall.

Academically speaking, I don't worry about Bridget's progress in school, but socially speaking, I'm afraid she's going to kill the teacher with helpfulness. She insists, "I'm going to help the teacher. I can pass out papers, pick up toys, get the records for her record player and I can stay after school and help wash the blackboards and clean the erasers (she has gathered from Megan that this is one of the most attractive extra-curricular activities school has to offer) and I can take care of the kids and keep them quiet when the teacher leaves the room (she may easily be voted the most unpopular classmate in the room)."

Actually, most children at this age, have a strong and wonderful desire to be helpful and the encouragement of this kind of "self expression" along with industry and courage is the main function of the school. Dorothy Thompson, in an article entitled, "Educating Emotions Prevents Juvenile Delinquency" says:

"A modern catchword is, 'The child does not exist for the school, but the school for the child'. A little thought exposes the fatuity of the statement. The school is an institution of the community and exists to serve it; to transfer to the child its highest ideals, and so guide, train and enlighten him that he will, as a member of the community, cherish its highest ideals, emulate its best behaviors, protect its safety, feel a duty for its well being, and thus insure its freedoms and its survival as the conditions of his own freedoms and surivival. The freer the society, the more dispersed its powers, the more essential is the development of its personal and social character . . . The first function of education is therefore not to turn out better or worse laborers, housewives, stenographers, mathematicians, engineers, and so on—each activity representing but one function of a human being—but to send on their way new members of the community who, through their characters (largely conditioned by emotional responses) will contribute something over and above whatever they do for a living."

My love,
Patty

FOOT SAVING EDUCATION

by J. H. Kotz

Do Tennis Shoes Cause Flat Feet?

No. Thinking of shoes of any kind causing flat feet is as backward as treating tuberculosis by shutting the patient up in a dark airless room. All feet are weak at first and whether they strengthen or not depends upon the exercise of good foot function.

Probably the world's worst record of foot health was compiled by selectees for military service in World War I. These young men had not worn tennis shoes because they were not popular yet and because their parents were so sure that children must wear stiff shoes to "strengthen their ankles".

When tennis shoes did become popular among the children they were blamed for causing flat feet. The feet were flat before but stiff shoes concealed the condition. Blaming tennis shoes for causing the trouble is as wrong as attributing baldness to the removal of a hat.

Mrs. Mills Wins Honors at Doll Club Convention

Mrs. C. H. Mills of Arlington Heights, creator of character dolls, has returned from San Francisco where she attended the annual convention of United Federation of Doll Clubs and where she exhibited 2 of her most recent creations.

One, an Apache Indian, carved from walnut and standing 16 inches high with real Indian hair and wearing real Indian mocassins and beads, came home with a blue ribbon. Her dried apple Christmas Caroler, in red plug hat and authentic period costume and looking as if he had stepped right out of a Christmas card, also rated a blue ribbon.

This is the fourth year in succession that Mrs. Mills has carried away honors in this class. Besides creating and exhibiting her creations, she has also been very active in United Federation of Doll Clubs and during the past year as regional director, has organized 2 new clubs, has 2 more clubs in the process of organization and is credited with being largely responsible for the 30 per cent increase in club membership in the states of Illinois and Wisconsin.

Since becoming a member of Chicago Doll Club 8 years ago Mrs. Mills has attended every annual convention of Federation. The convention next year will be held in New York City.

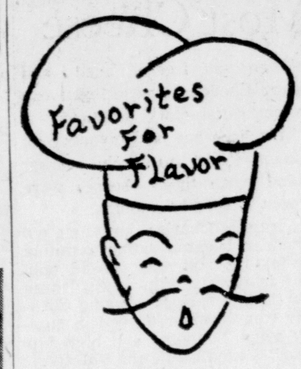
Ice Box Pie Is Refreshing Rich Summertime Dessert



by LOIS SEILER

A delicious dessert to serve on a hot summer day is the Chocolate Ice Box Pie we are featuring this week.

This pie is simple enough to make often for the family, yet elegant enough to serve to guests.

The recipe has been shared with us by Mrs. John F. Lemme of Prospect Heights.

Only 4 ingredients are needed to make this pie: graham crackers and melted butter for the crust, and Hersey Bars with Almonds and whiping cream for the filling.

It can be prepared in minutes and needs to set in the refrigerator only a few hours before serving.

The chocolate pie is a rich and refreshing summertime dessert!

The Lemmes live at 309 W. Circle in Prospect Heights. They have one son, John Jr., 13½.

Mrs. Lemme enjoys outdoor gardening as well as tending her collection of African violets. She is publicity chairman of the Suburban Saintpaulia society and also works part-time for the village of Mt. Prospect in the building department.

Chocolate Ice Box Pie

20 graham crackers, crushed
1/8 pound melted butter
2 Hershey bars with almonds (4½ ounce size).
½ pint whipping cream

Combine graham crackers and melted butter. Press into an 8-inch pie pan, saving ½ cup of crumbs for top.

Melt the Hershey bars in the top of a double boiler.

Whip the whipping cream until thick. Add melted chocolate, spoon by spoon, stirring thoroughly.

Fill pie shell, top with remaining crumbs and place in refrigerator for a few hours to set.

Serves 8.

Each Vinegar Is Best for Specific Use

Vinegars are as different as the foods they season. Cider, distilled white, tarragon and malt vinegars are made for specific purposes and should be used accordingly, says Mrs. Dorothy McIvor, University of Illinois foods specialist.

Cider vinegar, the all-purpose vinegar, is a favorite for salads and salad dressings. Although you can substitute it for distilled white in preserving fruits and vegetables, it sometimes darkens the color of the foods or causes shriveling.

Distilled white is absolutely pure and is the best vinegar for pickling and preserving. It has a delicate aroma which accents the true flavor of foods without overpowering them.

TARRAGON VINEGAR, seasoned with herbs, is considered an epicurean vinegar. It should be used sparingly for its flavor is prominent. You can use it in French or sour cream dressings, or in fish or meat sauces. You may also want to substitute it for cider vinegar in meat, fish or egg salads.

Malt is considered by many to be the finest vinegar. Its rich, full-bodied flavor is an excellent complement for hearty salads of meat, seafoods or macaroni. It peps up many fish and meat sauces. However, it too should be used carefully to retain the flavor of the original food. (Soc

Teacher Aids Pupil To Think Straight

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

God, knowing the weakness and ignorance of man, places certain people on earth who, by their character, philosophy and ability to influence others, are leading man in his slow, steady spiritual, physical and mental development. Rating high among such leaders is the teacher.

A teacher who can influence pupils to think straight, imbue them with loyalty and patriotism, give them a good philosophy of life, a strong faith in God and a true set of values, has released powers that will be manifest long after that teacher and his pupils are gone.

MANY, IF NOT ALL, of our American leaders will unhesitantly point to one or more teachers who through their encouragement, guidance, personal magnetism, and ability to arouse curiosity and give direction to life, have made their lives successful. That is why no salary is large enough to pay such a teacher or teachers for the good they can do our children and our nation.

And such teachers, no matter how meager their pay, cannot keep from doing their best to make the world better regardless of the personal sacrifices to themselves.

However, a well paid teacher can do more good than one who is poorly paid. If he feels free from problems of finance and worry, he can devote the time and energy to his teaching that he might otherwise burn up on a second job necessary to put bread and butter on the table.

INDUSTRY, in paying its help more, has found that their employees do better and more work when they are not hampered by problems of food, clothing and medical care for their families due to low pay. The same is true of a teacher who, when well paid, is relieved of these worries, and the energy and thought that he would otherwise have to devote to personal problems will be released for his work in the class room. Higher Egg Prices Ahead; Turkeys on Best Buy List

by L. H. Simerl

Prices of eggs are likely to rise more than usual this fall, then continue at profitable levels through 1958.

The egg producing business seems to run in a 2-year cycle—good, poor year—good year—poor year—etc. Prices have been low during the past 12 months. They seem likely to be much higher in the next 12 months.

Farmers cut down on the purchase of chicks for laying flock replacements last spring. This points to smaller laying flocks, reduced egg production, and higher prices.

FARMERS ARE raising an estimated 394 million young chickens this year, 18 per cent less than last. (This figure does not include commercial broiler production. The estimate is based on reports received by the USDA from farmers, crop reporters, and commercial hatcheries).

All sections of the country are cutting production of chickens for laying flock replacements. The decrease is greatest on farms that had small flocks. Many former small flock owners are raising none this year.

Illinois farmers are reducing egg production more than farmers in most other states. Illinois farmers are raising 28 per cent fewer chickens in 1957 than in 1956. This indicates that our farmers may have better alternative uses for their labor than farmers in many other areas. Illinois farmers, who raised 47 million chickens in 1943, are raising only 17 million this year.

If egg prices rise rapidly farmers will hold over more hens than last year, but not enough more to offset the big cut in pullet numbers.

EGG PRODUCTION will probably drop below year-before levels during the last quarter of this year, and remain below for about 12 months.

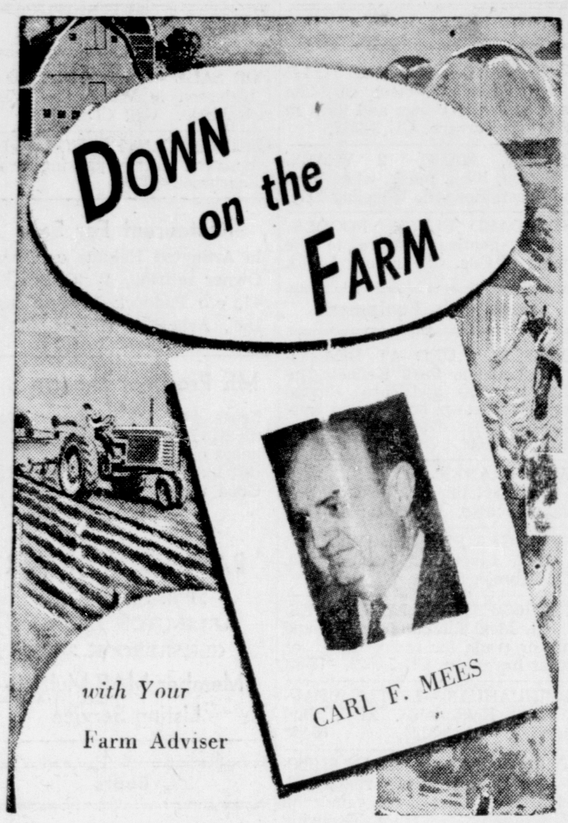
By January 1 the nation's laying flock is expected to be 6 per cent smaller than it was a year before. The average rate of lay may increase slightly, but egg production seems likely to fall 4 to 6 per cent short of year-before levels. This reduction, plus a small increase in consumer demand, should allow much better prices than those of last winter.

BROILER production leveled-off for a few weeks but is increasing again. This will tend to prevent any improvement in prices. Prices may slip again when consumer demand slackens with cooler weather.

Turkey production this year is about 5 per cent larger than in 1956. Over 80 million of the big birds are being raised this year. Storage stocks of turkey on June 1 of 91 million pounds, compared with 41 million a year before. The holiday birds will be available to consumers at attractive prices before Thanksgiving and Christmas, but prices paid to farmers may rise slightly by December.

First Taxes

The first steps toward taxing the American colonies were taken by England in 1764.



Several people have told me that the Farmer's Almanac predicts frost the latter part of August. Should this be true, it would be a calamity for Illinois farmers, and probably for farmers in many other states. No one has convinced me yet that we will have a frost that early. I will believe it only when it comes.

Many farmers are plowing for wheat. Some will sow soon I. wheat. Some will sow soon. I haven't received information as to when the fly-free date for seeding wheat will be. It is usually around Sept. 20-21.

The fly-free date may be somewhat misleading to wheat producers. In the past, Hessian fly has been known to do considerable damage to wheat. It would cause the straw to break, thus causing the wheat to lodge. Fly-free date does not mean that if you seed wheat before the date you will have flies and that if you seed after the date you will not have them. I should probably be named as the highest yielding date. Data show that in this area, on an average, wheat seeded around Sept. 21 will yield the on averages and will vary from year to year. I would suggest, that if possible, you seed your wheat around Sept. 20-25.

highest. This, of course, is based

THE DEPARTMENT of Agriculture of the State of Illinois has made a survey of the dairy and breeding cattle more than four months of age in Cook County and has found them to be less than 3 per cent infected with brucellosis, states Stillman J. Standard, director of agriculture.

He states further, that as of July 30, Cook county is declared to be an area for certification, which puts into effect the test and slaughter plan for the elimination of bovine brucellosis, as provided in Section 3b of the Illinois bovine brucellosis control law as amend-

ILLINOIS POPULATION is now estimated at 9.5 million, according to C. L. Folse, University of Illinois rural sociologist. This represents an increase of 872,000 since the 1950 census was taken.

Farm Work in School Hours Banned for Youth Under 16

Illinois farmers hiring workers for the fall harvest were reminded today that the Fair Labor Standards act prohibits work by children under 16 years of age on farms during school hours.

"The Federal law provides children with a priceless commodity—time to go to school," says Duane A. Wendele, regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts divisions, the agency which enforces the act.

THE CHILD-LABOR provisions protect local youngsters and children of migratory workers alike, Wendele pointed out. There is only one exception to the rule prohibiting children under 16 from working in agriculture during school hours of the school district where the child lives while working, he added.

The exception is for the farmer's child working on his parents' farm. He also stated that children may lawfully work on farms before and after school hours, and on weekends and other days when there is no school.

"The farmer can easily make sure of the age of any young worker if he asks for an age certificate. A certificate showing the young person is old enough for the job serves as proof of age for purposes of the Act," Wendele said. These certificates can generally be obtained from local school officials.

THE CHILD-LABOR provisions apply to farmers who engage in interstate commerce or ship produce in interstate commerce or to dealers in the same State who ship the produce in interstate commerce.

Regional Director Wendele said persons who want more information about the application of the Act to children working on farms should get in touch with the Wage-Hour offices at room 1100, 105 W. Adams st., Chicago 3, or room 205 Bradley bldg., 402 E. Adams st., Springfield. (Fm

Agricultural Short Course Opens Feb. 3

For the first time, the 7th annual winter short course in agriculture will be held after the winter holidays this school year.

Dean Louis B. Howard of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture announces the dates as Feb. 3 through March 15, 1958, on the campus in Urbana.

Previous short courses in agriculture have been held in December and January. The change in dates has been made this year to avoid interrupting the schedule of classes with Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations.

About 25 different courses will again be offered in the fields of agricultural economics, agricultural engineering, agronomy, animal science, dairy science, forestry and animal hygiene, Dean Howard says.

Housing and meals will be available on the campus. All farm men and women over 18 years of age are welcome to enroll for up to 5 or 6 classes.

Illinois residents will pay $30 tuition fee plus $10.50 laboratory and supply fee, including hospital and medical service fee and Illini Union fee.

Detailed schedules will be printed and available about December 1 from your county farm adviser or your local vocational agriculture teacher. For full information, write to H. L. Sharp, short course supervisor, 104 Mumford Hall, Urbana. (Fm

A bus was recently chartered and Palatine Busy Bees and a few of their leaders enjoyed a beach picnic at the Dunes, near Waukegan, The bus left Palatine at 8 a.m. and returned at 9 p.m.

Palatine Busy Bees' booth at the 4-H fair won a red ribbon and the girls modeled garments they made.. One of the group's members, Sandra Hapke, went to Springfield as her demonstration won her honors as first alternate for north Cook country. Phyllis Teegan was third alternate in clothing and Janice Rohde and Sandra Hapke sang a duet while Ruthann Hinrichs sang a solo at the fair Saturday, winning honors at the Share the Fun. (4-H

No Separation

The Puritans were members of the Church of England who demanded certain changes in public worship, but did not withdraw from the church.

Pastures Ideal For Pepping Up

The last 2 weeks of August is the ideal time to pep up those run down permanent pastures. This can be done by fertilization and reseeding according to Elmer E. Offerman of the North Cook Soil Conservation district. The production from many pastures in this area could be doubled or tripled if this practice were followed.

A few simple but important steps should be taken to insure a successful job, Offerman pointed out.

Edmund Rohlwing, who lives on Meacham rd. in Schaumburg township, took these simple steps to a better pasture program in the fall of 1952.

Rohlwing said, "Before I improved my pasture I could get only 2 or 3 weeks of pasturing in the spring and a few days in the fall. Now on this reseeded pasture, and the use of a rotational grazing plan, I have feed from spring until fall."

Rohlwing's first step was to have soil tested to determine the need for fertilizers.

In order to prepare a seedbed for the grasses and legumes he destroyed the bluegrass sod. A field cultivator was used on part of the field and a plow on the other part. The cultivator showed the best results.

After the seedbed was prepared, a mixture of timothy and bromegrass was seeded along with rye. Early in the spring of 1953 a mixture of alfalfa, red clover and birdsfoot trefoil was seeded. Some control on the amount of grazing was used the first year so that the new seedings were not damaged.

Rohlwing, in commenting on the success of his pasture, said, "There are many pastures in the area that could benefit from a similar treatment."

Landowners and operators planning to improve their pasture can receive additional information by contacting the farm adviser or soil conservationist in the Farm Bureau building at Arlington Heights. (Fm

Dairy Day Set for Sept. 5

The 6th annual Dairy Day at the University of Illinois will be Sept. 5, G. W. Salisbury, head of the dairy science department, announced this week. All dairy farmers and others interested in dairying are invited to attend.

The first part of the program begins at 9 a.m. daylight time with a tour of the University dairy barns. Visitors will see the research facilities and the animals being used in current tests.

At 10:15, the group will meet in Room 112 Gregory Hall. Salisbury will report on the latest findings in dairy research. R. W. Touchberry of the dairy science staff will discuss dairying as he saw it in Denmark this past year.

On the afternoon program, dairymen will hear Glenn L. Johnson, Michigan State university, discuss practical tips in dairy management. Also highlighting the afternoon, Lyman McKee, president of the American Dairy association, Madison, Wis., will report on activities of that organization.

For lunch, visitors may eat at the Illini Union cafeteria, at other eating places near by, or bring their own picnic lunch and eat at Illini Grove on the south edge of the campus. (Fm

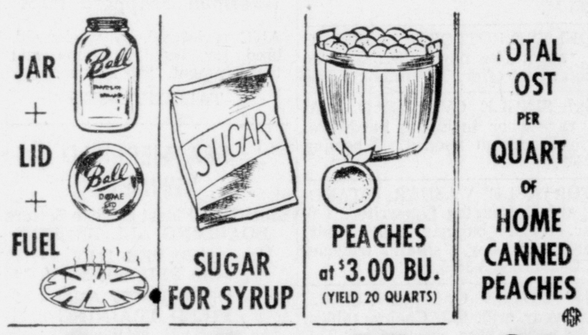
Paid in Savings from Home Canning

Here is how it works. Take peaches as an example and first find out how much it costs to put up one quart.

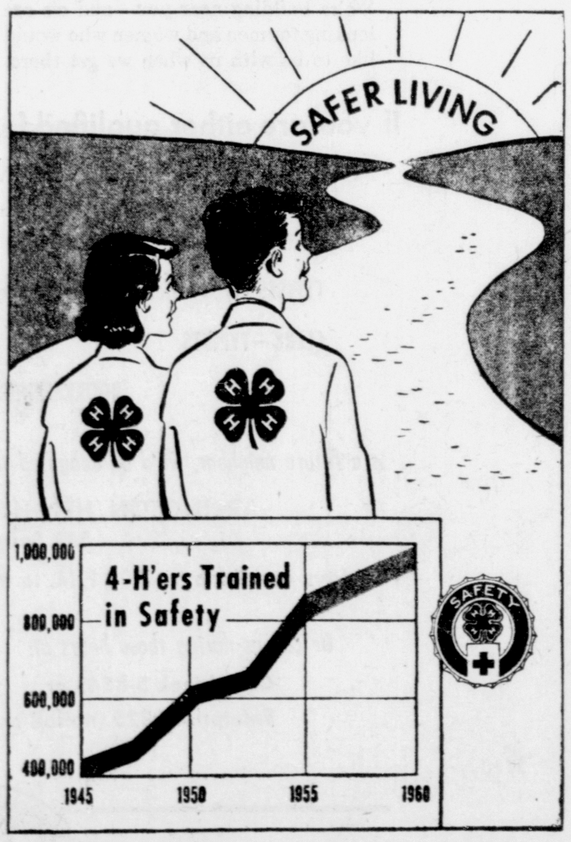


At 21c per quart, good freestone peaches are a bargain. You usually save at least 10c per quart compared to what you would pay for commercially canned (No. 2½ tin is about 10% less than 1 qt.). Savings are still greater when you grow your own peaches, or buy them at less than the above price.

In these calculations, the jar cost is figured on a 10 year jar life, as shown by independent surveys. Fuel cost was developed from tests, while lid and sugar figures are based on current prices. The U. S. Department of Agriculture shows the yield from a bushel of peaches to be 18 - 24 qts.

Similar calculations for other items, such as tomatoes and relishes, show comparable savings; so that it is conservative to say that home canning saves 10c per jar. Studies made by a leading research organization show that well over 1,500,000,000 jars are canned each year. Here, then, is how women make big home earnings by home canning: 1,500,000,000 jars canned X 10c = $150,000,000.

4-H'ers Lead the Way to Safety



The future looks brighter for more people because more 4-H Club members than ever before are being trained and educated in safety. Participation in the 1957 national 4-H safety program enables them to make their homes, farms and communities safer places in which to live and work.

Boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 throughout the state are learning safe practices that will pay dividends later in life whether they reside on the farm or in the city. Conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, the 4-H safety program has been supported continuously since 1945 by General Motors.

Incentive awards offered to 4-H'ers for superior achievement include distinctive medals, college scholarships, and educational trips to the national 4-H Club Congress held annually in Chicago.
